Court Order Is Granted Here For Teachers' Pay, Other Bills

A court order was signed this morning by Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer permitting payment of teachers' salaries and other necessary bills in Wayne Twp. and New Holland School Districts.

Both school districts have filed injunctions here asking that money and other assets of their districts should not be turned over to the newly consolidated Westfall School District. Temporary injunctions were granted.

Both districts also have submitted petitions to the State Board of Education asking transfer to other school zones. Wayne Twp. desires to join the Circleville school system and New Holland asks transfer to Miami Trace, Fayette County. All action involved still is pending.

Judge Ammer signed today's order after New Holland and Wayne's attorney, Joseph Asher, and the Pickaway County Board of Education's attorney, William Knepper, came to this agreement. Ammer then consulted with presiding Judge, Darrel Hotel, Highland County.

George McDowell, superintendent of county schools, said that if this order had not been signed the teachers and bills of the school districts concerned would not be paid until settlement of the issue at hand. The teachers last were paid the second week in December.

'Definite' Claim Is Made on Missile Base

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Columbus Dispatch said today it has definite confirmation "a huge, super-secret military project, probably a missile base," is planned in Pickaway County south of Lockbourne Air Force Base.

The Dispatch said confirmation came from Rep. L. Mendel Rivers (D-SC), head of the real estate subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee.

Rivers was quoted as saying that Pentagon officials told him that a military project "so highly classified" he could not be given details by telephone, is planned north of Circleville.

Green Takes Petitions for Representative

William J. Green, 59, Route 1, Orient, yesterday became the first person to take out petitions seeking the Pickaway County Republican nomination for state representative. Incumbent Ed Wallace is the only Democrat to take out petitions for this position.

Green was born May 31, 1898, in Franklin County. He attended Pleasant Twp. High School and moved to Pickaway County in 1929.

He has farmed all his life and holds extensive acreage in Scioto and Muhlenberg townships, parts of which are within the area of the rumored missile base.

In connection with his farming, Green also deals in hay and grain. He is a director of the Grove City Farmers Exchange and of the Harrisburg Savings and Banking Co., in which he is chairman of the loan committee.

ONE of Green's many enterprises has been the Greer Acres addition in Madison Twp., which has been developed and sold. Green stated that a similar project will start in the near future in Muhlenberg Twp.

Green is a member of many organizations, being a past chancellor of the Harrisburg Knights of Pythias, a member of the Scottish Rites Lodge and Aladdin Temple, Columbus, and the Circleville Elks Lodge.

This will be Green's first attempt for state representative. He has been a long standing member of the Republican Executive and Central committee in Pickaway County. He also has been a member of Scioto Twp. Board of Education.

Thoroughbred running horses are a favorite hobby of Green's. Green is married and the father of five children, Mrs. Nancy Ann Younkin, Harold, Paul, William Lee, and Larry, all of Route 1, Orient.

Burglar's Labors Bring Little Profit

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police report that a burglar scaled a six-foot fence at the Kolbe Paint Co. Thursday. Then he climbed up four floors on a fire escape, broke a window to enter and walked back down the four flights to the main floor. There he rifled the cash register. Then he tried, without success to hammer open a door.

Venezuela Gets Civilian Cabinet

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela's new military rulers named a cabinet of civilian "technicians" Thursday night in an effort to win popular support.

But a civilian group which started the revolt that packed dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez off to exile withheld approval of the new regime.

The young civilian street fighters reportedly felt they were not getting recognition from the military junta which took over after Perez Jimenez fled Thursday. Although their intervention was the decisive factor, the military had not taken part in the general strike which led to the end of the 10-year dictatorship.

The civilian group, representing political opinion from rightists to Communists, demanded formation of an interim national union government, general elections as soon as possible, freedom for political parties, guarantees of freedom of expression and arrest of "criminals" of the old regime.

THE JUNTA asked two civilians to join its membership, and more changes in its composition appeared a possibility.

However, its leader, Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal, declared his group would "act firmly to avoid and wipe out any attempt to diminish its authority." The junta said it would hold free elections and restore constitutional liberties but set no dates.

Caracas, meanwhile, cleaned up the wreckage of fighting which ended with surrender of the last holdouts at secret police headquarters. Reports said 60 bodies were found in the building, about half of them believed to be those of political prisoners held by the hated security forces.

New Device To Ward Off Enemy Missiles

Manufacturer Reveals System Being Built Into Supersonic Ships

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—An American supersonic bomber now flying can surround itself with a shield of electrons to ward off any attacking missiles.

The automatic defense system being built into Convair's new 1,130-m.p.h. B58 Hustler is one of the most spectacular applications of electronics in defense, President Don G. Mitchell of Sylvania Electronic Products, Inc., says.

"It has flown and it works," Mitchell told reporters after addressing the San Francisco Council of the West Coast Electronic Manufacturers Assn. Thursday.

The shield will increase the attack effectiveness of manned supersonic bombers.

A report on how it works and how it has been tested awaits security clearance in the Pentagon. In essence, however, the shield system generates an electric magnetic field around the aircraft that fouls up, disrupts and jams the guiding systems of approaching missiles.

THE ELECTRON shield systems are in production at Sylvania's Buffalo, N. Y., laboratory. Advance research and development were carried out at the company's electronic defense laboratory at Moulton View, Calif., and Waltham, Mass.

Convair reported at Fort Worth, Tex., that a nuclear warhead was being prepared for the B58 to be carried in a detachable pod beneath the plane. It said the work was underway at Fort Worth and at Kirtland Air Force Base special weapons center near Albuquerque, N. M.

Mitchell said Sylvania also is weapons systems manager for Army's newly disclosed Plato anti-missile project.

Maj. Gen. Robert J. Wood, the Army's deputy chief for research and development this week reported "excellent progress" toward developing the Plato and the Zeus as

Missile Probers Continue Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House committee forged ahead today with its investigation of the military structure as a Senate subcommittee called for "decisive action" on a 17-point program to modernize the nation's defenses.

Meanwhile, Senate leaders were expected to push action on a $1,410,000,000 emergency defense money bill which the House approved by a 388-0 vote.

Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, Army chief of research and development, was called by the House Armed Services Committee to testify behind closed doors.

He created a stir earlier this month when he decided to retire March 31 in protest against certain Defense Department policies.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said he has been impressed by testimony already received which he said indicated there has been no harmful effect on the missiles program from interservice rivalry, as Gavin contends.

THE PREPAREDNESS subcommittee listed reorganizing and strengthening the Defense Department among its 17 recommendations, but took no position on just how it should be done.

Other recommendations, all worded broadly, included stepping up production of intermediate 1,500-mile range ballistic missiles and the Atlas Intercontinental 5,000-mile ballistic missile, and accelerating development of the Titan ICBM.

They called for modernizing and strengthening the nation's manned bomber force and for dispersing it more widely. And they proposed more effort in developing anti-missile missiles and expanding the nation's submarine fleet.

The 17-point program was approved unanimously by the Senate subcommittee as it wound up more than 100 days of investigating U. S. defenses in the wake of Russia's earth satellite firings.

Action already has been taken on a number of the points on the subcommittee list.

Later in the day the Senate approved $190,000 to finance the subcommittee's operations in the coming year.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), chairman of the subcommittee, read his group's interim report which credited Russia with leading in the development of ballistic missiles and in number of submarines.

The report said the Soviet Union "is rapidly closing the gap in manned air power—and, at present rates, will surpass the country in a short time."

Hoffa said the Teamsters National Executive Board will meet here the first week in February to decide its stand on the AFL-CIO, which has expelled the Teamsters on corruption charges.

The federation labeled Hoffa as a corrupting influence after Senate Rackets Committee disclosures linked him to alleged union fund abuses. It said the Teamsters can't re-enter the AFL-CIO so long as Hoffa is in power.

The settlement was reached in a suit brought by 13 New York rank-and-file Teamsters Union members who alleged that union bosses had rigged the October convention at Miami Beach to make sure Hoffa was elected.

HOFFA SUCCEEDED retiring President Dave Beck, himself linked to union rackets disclosures.

The compromise worked out by opposing counsel before Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts provided for naming the monitors and terminating a court ban which kept Hoffa and other officials elected with him from taking office. The union agreed to pay all legal costs for both sides.

The Teamsters Union is to select one member of the watchdog committee, the recent plaintiffs another, and the third is to be selected by the other two or, if they can't agree, by Judge Letts. They are to be named next Tuesday.

Turbojets Eyed As Rocket Engines

CINCINNATI (AP)—A General Electric Co. expert believes a recoverable turbojet engine, such as those made in the GE plant here, may replace first-stage rockets in future missiles and space ships.

The opinion came from John B. Montgomery, general manager of the General Electric gas turbine engine division here, who said: "Once the missile or space vehicle has been accelerated through the dense layers of air near the earth's surface, then a rocket engine would take over the job of propelling it the rest of the way."

Stassen Plan Hinted Getting Ike's Backing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is reported keeping the door open for possible changes in disarmament policy along lines recommended by Harold Stassen.

He is understood to have directed special government committees to check into the proposals which Stassen has been pushing as a new approach to renewed talks with the Soviet Union.

One official, who opposes many of Stassen's proposals, said today Stassen might succeed in winning Eisenhower's approval on 80 per cent of his suggested changes. They include:

1. A firm plan for international control of atomic missiles via inspection by a United Nations commission set up for this purpose.
2. A revised American offer to suspend atomic tests. This may be a compromise, keeping the tie between a test ban and the need to end weapons production but perhaps not until later.
3. An offer to increase the amount of fissionable material to be contributed to an international agency by the United States and to scale down the amount Russia would have to contribute.
4. A reduction in the armed force levels Russia and the United States would promise to abide by in all fields. At present this figure is 2½ million men.
5. An expression of readiness to agree on parts of the disarmament package without hinging agreement in one field on complete acceptance of all.

U. S., Britain See Promise In H-Bomb Harness Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain reported today both have achieved "fruitful and promising results" in experiments aimed at harnessing the H-bomb reaction to produce industrial electric power.

But both countries, in simultaneously released statements, made it clear that any attainment of such an objective is many years away.

At the same time, Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, said the scientific reports released today by the two countries show that "certain comparative observations which have been published in recent weeks about British and U.S. progress in this field have been not only misleading but lacking in any foundation of fact."

U.S., Russia Reach Accord Cultural Exchanges To Get Go-Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States apparently has been unable to win Soviet agreement to exchange uncensored periodic radio-TV commentaries on world events.

This was a prime U. S. goal during three months of secret negotiations between the State Department and Russian Ambassador Georgi Zarubin on broadening cultural exchanges between the two countries.

Another major goal — to halt Kremlin jamming of Voice of America Russian language radio broadcasts to Russia — seemed also to have gone by the boards.

They are reported conspicuous absent from a general "agreement in principle" expected shortly, ending the talks. These agreements in principle will be worked out in detail at a later date, informants said, and will be promptly implemented.

It was understood they cover a two-year period and include:

1. DIRECT air service between Moscow and New York. This would send American airliners and Soviet jet liners, like the big TU104, on a schedule of possibly two round-trip flights a week. It would mean something novel in U. S.-Soviet relations: Russian tourists in possibly large numbers. And it would boost U. S. tourist travel to the Soviet Union probably well above last year's total of 3,000.

2. Reciprocal visits of about 40 delegations of observers from each country. Delegates would come from the professions — doctors, lawyers, government chiefs, journalists, teachers, scientists.

3. Swapping 15 American movies for 15 Soviet movies. These would be shown to the public in each country.

achievement of temperatures higher than those reported by the British — six million degrees centigrade against five million.

The British, on the other hand, reported sustaining the temperatures for periods of thousands of a second as compared with millions of a second reported by the Americans.

The higher American temperatures were achieved in particular experiments that began just last month, whereas the British apparently achieved theirs several months before.

Neither country, however, alluded to any significance in such differences in results or time when achieved.

Temperatures of at least 100 million degrees, sustained for perhaps several seconds, would be required to obtain useful power from the hydrogen reaction.

Lone Vaccine May Halt Flu, Colds, Polio

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two Tulane University doctors today said their research shows it is possible to make a single vaccine giving protection against colds, flu and polio.

Dr. William J. Mogabgab and Dr. William Polon made the announcement at a meeting of the southern section of the American Federation for Clinical Research.

The doctors said they opened the way for a multiple-purpose vaccine by proving that influenza virus may be grown in monkey kidney tissue cultures, the same method used for polio vaccine.

The doctors said they had isolated a new virus which causes colds. They called it the "2060" virus. Another such virus known as "JH" already had been isolated. Both may be cultivated in monkey kidney tissues.

"We have shown," said Polon, "that both these viruses produce different antibodies so that both must be included in a vaccine to protect against coldlike illnesses. There are probably other 'cold' producing viruses which have not yet been isolated.

"We believe that these two viruses, together with those causing 'flu' or grippie, could be included in a vaccine to protect against these respiratory diseases."

Detective Gives Tips For Conventioneers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Beware of friendly strangers, gambling and Mickey films when conventioning in a strange town, a Cincinnati police detective warned Louisville Rotarians.

Detective Floyd Niswonger gave club members pointers: When going to a tavern, find the ugliest woman in the place. Sit down with her and order drinks. When she starts looking good, go home. You've had it.

Military Talks Slated

HONOLULU (AP) — Thirty generals and admirals with commands ranging from the Far East to the mid-Pacific will meet here Jan. 27-29 to discuss defense of the U. S. Pacific Command.

Columbus Firm Interested Here

A Columbus firm today announced a growing interest in commercial and industrial development in the Circleville area, according to a company spokesman.

The firm involved, Kissell and Company, with offices in Columbus, Dayton, Springfield, Toledo and Cleveland, is the largest real estate mortgage company in the state of Ohio.

The Kissell Co. spokesman stated that several developments in Circleville were under discussion and consideration and that business activity was brewing in Circleville's direction.

The spokesman continued by saying, "While Kissell and Co. are considering developments in metropolitan Columbus they are taking Circleville into its plans for the future."

At the present time two developments are under consideration which will greatly benefit the Circleville area and Pickaway County, according to the company official.

Columbus Firm Interested Here

A Columbus firm today announced a growing interest in commercial and industrial development in the Circleville area, according to a company spokesman.

The firm involved, Kissell and Company, with offices in Columbus, Dayton, Springfield, Toledo and Cleveland, is the largest real estate mortgage company in the state of Ohio.

The Kissell Co. spokesman stated that several developments in Circleville were under discussion and consideration and that business activity was brewing in Circleville's direction.

The spokesman continued by saying, "While Kissell and Co. are considering developments in metropolitan Columbus they are taking Circleville into its plans for the future."

At the present time two developments are under consideration which will greatly benefit the Circleville area and Pickaway County, according to the company official.

Stock Mart Prices Milling Indecisively

NEW YORK (U.S.)—Stock market prices milled indecisively in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Gains and losses were chiefly fractional with a few one-point movers and a number of leading issues unchanged.

Tobacco, utilities and oils were slightly higher while rails, building materials, aircrafts and motors were mixed. Steels drifted a bit lower.

Some corporate reports were good but the general picture remained mixed. Meanwhile, machine tool orders, an important barometer of the economy, were reported at their lowest level last month since October 1949.

Lorillard was up more than a point while U. S. tobacco and Philip Morris picked up fractions. American Motors, Texas Co., Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Goodyear rose major fractions.

Lukens Steel advanced a good fraction. General losers were Du Pont, General Dynamics, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide and Johns-Manville.

U. S. government bonds were firm.

13 Now Tied To Swindle Investigation

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (U.S.)—The number of persons charged in connection with an alleged insurance claim swindle ring here stood at 13 today.

Two men were added to the list Thursday. Both were bound over to the grand jury.

Samuel Trkula, 32, of Youngstown, identified by police as a professional gambler, was released under $7,000 bond on a charge of obtaining money from the American Associated Insurance Co. under false pretenses.

James Jenkins, 54, of East Liverpool, Ohio, was charged with aiding and abetting embezzlement. He was freed under $1,000 bond.

Authorities said the insurance company paid Trkula $2,375 on a fake claim.

Jenkins is accused of aiding Councilman John J. Tobin Jr. in swindling $600 from the company. He is an employee of a dairy operated by Tobin and Paul J. Shade.

Tobin, an adjutant for the insurance company, has been missing since Jan. 4. He is charged with embezzlement and issuing a check without having sufficient funds.

Shade, charged with aiding and abetting embezzlement, also is missing. He was Tobin's campaign manager in the City Council race last fall.

Divorcee Found Guilty in Slaying

DAYTON (U.S.)—Mrs. Ann Murray, 43-year-old divorcee, today was convicted of second-degree murder in the July 25 fatal shooting of Mrs. Alberta Cobb, 59, also a divorcee.

A jury deliberated 10 hours before it reached its verdict. Mrs. Murray had been charged with first-degree murder and the prosecution asked the death penalty.

Testimony showed the shooting was a climax to a quarrel over the attentions of Thomas Wright, 53. The shooting occurred during a birthday party for Wright at Mrs. Cobb's home.

Ohio Solon Raps 2-Telephone Deal

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Members of Congress now have two telephones on their desks after getting along with one for years.

Rep. Henderson (R-Ohio) calls this change another example of government inefficiency in "bureaucratic Washington."

Henderson said that "since it was felt some members of Congress might be too contemptuous to accept the change with good grace, the second phone was installed to permit the member to reach the operator and to place the call by name in the old way."

Car Food Kits Urged

GLENDAL, Calif. (U.S.)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight says he carries emergency food kits in his state limousines. He urged Californians to do the same in case they have to flee a bombing attack.

Thieves Bother Thief

DIXON, Ill. (U.S.)—Roger McKean, 19, told Dixon police someone stole his auto's hubcaps while he sat out a $50 fine in jail. McKean's offense: stealing hubcaps.

New Device

weapons to destroy enemy missile sites.

The Zeus is intended to intercept intercontinental missiles and the Plato for use in the field to defend field armies.

Among the problems for an anti-missile missile, Mitchell said, are these:

AN INCOMING missile, traveling up to 5,000 miles in about 30 minutes, must be detected far enough away to track, compute its trajectory, and arm and launch the anti-missile missiles.

When the anti-missile missile is launched, a guidance radar keeps it on an interception path by a computer which sends in periodic flight path corrections.

"I understand the problem better this way," Mitchell said:

"It's like standing blindfolded in deep center field at Yankee Stadium and trying to hit a high home run ball by throwing another ball at it."

Red China Shuns Appeal By Mothers

HONG KONG (U.S.)—Premier Chou En-lai of Red China turned down today the plea of three American mothers for the release of their imprisoned sons, but held out the prospect of clemency later.

Peiping radio said Chou told the mothers, who flew to China to see their sons, that the government showed leniency to those who are well-behaved while serving sentences. He added that this policy applies to their sons.

The mothers presented their pleas through Mrs. Li Teh Chuan, Red Chinese health minister and Red Cross president.

The mothers are Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N. Y.; Mrs. Jessie Fecteau of Lynn, Mass.; and Mrs. Mary Downey of New Britain, Conn. They are to leave Peiping Saturday for the U. S.

Hugh Redmond, a former Shanghai businessman, is serving a life sentence in a Shanghai prison on a charge of spying. Richard Fecteau is serving 20 years and John Downey life in a Peiping prison on spying charges.

Mrs. Redmond visited Hugh in Shanghai before flying to Peiping to make her appeal.

The Chinese Red Cross in Shanghai had suggested to Mrs. Redmond that she go to Peiping to appeal.

Springfield School Gets Bomb Scare

SPRINGFIELD (U.S.)—Police and school officials kept 650 students of Hayward Junior High School out of the building this morning while they investigated a bomb scare—the first ever for Springfield schools.

They found nothing and the principal, L. G. Ronemus, believes a telephone call telling him of the "bomb" was made by a "crackpot."

The school is located about one mile south of the Springfield's downtown area.

Ronemus, who last year was athletic director at Springfield High School, received the call at 7:28 a. m. The caller said:

"I was just out to your school and planted a bomb."

"Don't you like our school?" the principal asked.

"No, I was kicked out a few years ago," the caller answered.

"Do you really mean this?" Ronemus pressed.

"Yes, the bomb is scheduled to go off at 9 a. m."

Ohio Brucellosis Campaign Planned

COLUMBUS (U.S.)—Dr. H. G. Geyer, chief of the state division of animal industry, says his office on Feb. 1 will begin to use quarantine measures throughout Ohio in connection with its brucellosis control program among cattle.

Ohio has two million breeding cattle and about one per cent of that number is believed infected by brucellosis, a disease that can affect humans.

If brucellosis is found in any herd of cattle, the cattle will be confined to the premises until all infected animals are slaughtered and a negative blood test of the herd is obtained.

Ohio Civil Defense Chiefs Studying Emergency Needs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U.S.)—If all of Ohio's nine major target cities were hit at once by enemy nuclear weapons, two thirds of the state's population would immediately feel the blow.

How would government operate during such an emergency? How would the people survive?

Those two main questions are getting the intense attention today of the Civil Defense directors of the cities—Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Steubenville, Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati and Toledo—as well as the counties involved.

Thursday they heard the general objectives of Civil Defense and survival experts. Today they are meeting to decide how best to attain the objectives.

Col. E. C. MacAtee, project manager of the Ohio Survival Project, presented the objectives for continuity of government.

He said emergency lines of succession for top executive, legislative, judicial and other key personnel must be established. Essential records must be preserved. There must be places where government can operate in an emergency. And all personnel and facilities of various branches of government must be put to the fullest use.

Arms Cache Probed after Dynamiting

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (U.S.)—A cache of firearms, dynamite caps, gunpowder and steel cutting equipment has been uncovered by Mahoning County deputies in the home of two men injured when their car was dynamited early Wednesday.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Frank Reese said Thursday he wanted to know where John Schuller and Mike Fedchina got the firearms and what they intended to do with them. Reese said the guns and other equipment were found at the Hillcrest Motel near Lowellville, operated by Schuller.

Schuller, 40, and Fedchina, 41, were reported in fair condition at South Side Hospital. They were injured when a dynamite charge ripped an automobile apart as Schuller turned on the ignition. Edward Tabus, 41, of Youngstown, was blown clear of the car when the explosion went off. He was in the back seat of the 1955 Cadillac.

Police have not learned why the car was dynamited or who was responsible.

Man Sleeps on Track, Suffers Head Injuries

AKRON (U.S.)—A two-unit diesel engine pulling a single car passed over John Wychumes, 43, Thursday night as he slept between the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near Hines Hills.

Wychumes, a trusty at the nearby Hudson boys farm, was reported in fairly good condition with head injuries at Green Cross Hospital in Cuyahoga Falls.

Tax Collections Drop

COLUMBUS (U.S.)—State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy says Ohio sales tax collections in the Jan. 1-11 period totaled $3,081,117 compared with $4,022,211 during the first 12 days of January 1957. That is a 23.9 per cent drop.

Seaway Toll Schedule Due By April

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (U.S.)—Tolls for the St. Lawrence Seaway probably will be announced by April as part of a proposed 50-year agreement between Canada and the United States, informed sources said today.

Charges for use of the 115-mile waterway, begun in 1954 and scheduled for formal opening in April next year, long have been a subject of hot debate.

The United States and Canada are partners in building the Seaway, which will be joined to Canada's Welland Canal to open the Great Lakes to deep-draft freighters.

Canada's Great Lake shipping industry strongly opposes any toll as a reversal of their country's traditional toll-free policy for inland waterways. The Canadian shippers reiterated their position in a four-day joint meeting of the Dominion Marine Assn. and the U.S. Lake Carriers Assn. which ended here Thursday night.

Informed sources said the tolls will be announced in April to give shippers a full year to make plans before the 1959 Seaway opening, in which Queen Elizabeth II will participate.

Unusual Coin Ties Youth To Slaying

CLEVELAND (U.S.)—An unusual coin found in the possession of John J. Kimmie, 22, has made the youth a suspect in the slaying of retired attorney Harold S. Rausch.

Kimmie, who has admitted the fatal knifing of Robert Radek, 19, also has confessed a series of crimes in the vicinity of the Rausch home on Hough Avenue, according to Capt. David Kerr of the police homicide unit.

The unusual coin which police found on Kimmie's person may have been part of a collection of 500 coins found in the attorney's littered home following his death, Nov. 2, police said Thursday. Detectives said robbery was the apparent motive in the attorney's slaying.

The Rausch estate has been valued at $130,000 including $50,000 in securities found in the basement of his home. His real estate holdings may total one million dollars, investigators said.

Arrested as a burglary suspect, Kimmie later admitted stabbing Radek. He claims the slaying was in self defense.

Japanese 43 1/2 million dollars more for goods and services in 1957 than they did the year before. The 1957 total was $134,510,182. Announcing the figures today, the U.S. Army Procurement Agency did not explain the increase.

TOKYO (U.S.)—Genichi Asami, chief of the Edogawa fire brigade, offered this explanation of why his station burned down Thursday night: "The fire started at the bottom of the watch tower, the only place in that area the man on duty couldn't see."

WINNIPEG, Man. (U.S.)—A pilot who lived part of the time on the trout cargo aboard his downed plane was rescued Thursday after a week in the frozen north Manitoba wilderness. James Leslie Douglas, 42, said he ran out of gas. A Canadian airforce plane picked him up. It was the second time he had been forced down in a month.

TAIPEI, Formosa (U.S.)—Cha Yun Piao, 44, Nationalist China's top expert in rocketry, has been killed by an explosion while experimenting with propellants. He told friends recently he was trying to discover the fuel the Russians used to put their Sputniks into space.

BERLIN (U.S.)—East Germany's Communist regime today condemned its "youth publishing house" for turning out a book that portrayed the United States and Britain leading Russia in air power.

The youth newspaper Junge Welt said the German author Walter Illing's "Taking Off to the Skies" "kept overlooking the truly epoch-making achievements of Soviet scientists and engineers in that field."

SYDNEY, Australia (U.S.)—Col. William Roy Hodgson, one of the founders of Australia's diplomatic service, died here today after an operation. He was 65.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (U.S.)—Dr. Vivian Fuchs and his Commonwealth transantarctic expedition left the South Pole today on the 1,250-mile trek to Scott Base. A report that the expedition left Thursday was premature. The party was delayed by a blizzard.

ANKARA, Turkey (U.S.)—Military leaders of the Baghdad Pact went into conference today to study means of tightening Middle Eastern defenses against the Communist menace.

Representing their nations at the opening session of the pact's military commission were Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. Army chief of staff; Sir William Dickson, chairman of the British chiefs of staff; and top military men of Iran, Iraq, Pakistan and Turkey.

MOSCOW (U.S.)—The Soviet people were told by two leading newspapers today that starvation and unemployment stalk the United States.

Pravda, the Communist party paper, painted a grim picture of breadlines blocks long, beggars along the sidewalks and gaunt men staring longingly at food left over by more prosperous patrons in cafeterias.

The newspaper Soviet Russia said "tens of thousands of Americans shuffle along the roads of this 'land of plenty' in search of employment."

Two Drivers Face Intoxication Counts

Two drivers were bound to the Pickaway Common Pleas Court today under $200 bond each.

Forest Bennett, 60, 535 S. Scioto St. and Lewis A. Brown, 47, Chillicothe, pleaded innocent in Circleville Municipal Court for driving automobiles when under the influence of intoxicants.

Bennett was arrested by Circleville Police and Brown by the State Highway Patrol.

UAW Studies $50 Million Strike Fund

DETROIT (U.S.)—A special convention of the United Auto Workers was expected today to approve a $50 million strike fund to back up 1958 demands on car manufacturers.

Debate on a proposal to build up the present $24 million strike fund with increased assessments got underway after the convention overwhelmingly approved UAW President Walter P. Reuther's profit-sharing plan.

Special assessments of $5 a month, in addition to basic dues of $3 a month, to be levied during March, April and May, will raise $16 million, said UAW Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey.

"Then we will have 40 million dollars in the strike fund in the early part of June," Mazey said.

The UAW's present three-year contracts with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler run out around June 1. Bargaining talks are due to start around April 1.

Under the strike assistance program, the international union will provide the locals with money to maintain strike kitchens. Mazey said, "The average cost of maintaining a strike kitchen, based on past experience, is about 31 cents per week per member."

Mazey estimated the strike fund has paid out $25 million to 243 local unions for strike assistance in the last three years.

How Accurate Is Living Cost Index?

Food Price Rise Offset by Cut in Automobile Tags

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — If you cut down on your eating last month and happened to buy a new car you were as well off as you were in November, it says here in the cost of living index.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports its consumer price index was unchanged in December from the record high in November. Families who ate as much as ever and didn't buy a new car may disagree.

The BLS reports that meat, poultry and fish rose in price enough to push the food component of its index up 0.1 per cent. Rents rose 0.2 per cent and prices of new home appliances were up 0.4 per cent.

But the cost of living index as a whole shook off these upward trends to hold level because auto dealers started offering concessions to move large stocks. Prices of new cars dropped 2.3 per cent on the index.

All of which brings up the question of just how accurate such an index is in measuring the cost of living—an index to which many wage scales are now pegged.

BLS doesn't claim its index is infallible or that it mirrors the experience of everyone or even of that mythical thing, the average family. It just contends its index is the best under practical circumstances.

BLS bases its index on interviews with about 8,000 families, 2,000 food stores and 4,000 other concerns in 46 cities. Only families with annual incomes under $10,000 are included.

The index covers around 300 items which BLS says such a typical city family buys. Some of these items would be considered luxuries. For example, families don't buy new cars every month.

BLS officials explain that this is offset by its system of giving different weights to the various items on the index. Less weight is given to the price of cars than to a hike in public transit fares.

BLS recognizes that some families don't own cars and that many buy second hand. But millions pay transit fares every day.

BLS isn't interested in whether its items are luxuries or whether families should economize or look for bargains. Its index is based on surveys which it says show, after being averaged out, what kinds of goods and services the middle class city dweller buys, the quantity he buys in a year and the amount he spends for each article, and the quality of the item he purchases.

Postal Service Asked To Find Missing Solon

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Mayor Frank X. Kryzan has assigned Uncle Sam's postal service a job police have been trying to accomplish for three weeks—finding John J. Tobin Jr., councilman wanted as key man in an alleged $200,000 insurance swindle.

Kryzan said Tobin's absence from council is messing up orderly city administration. The letter said in part:

"Your absence impels me to request that you forward your written resignation to the city council so the orderly process of our local community's government can go forward unimpeded."

Where did the mayor send the letter? He addressed it: "Whereabouts unknown, U.S.A., Canada or Mexico."

Tax Advice Slated on TV

Actual "line-by-line" preparation of personal income tax forms will be demonstrated on the Tax Advice program series to be seen over WBNS-TV (channel 10) every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. starting January 26.

Tax Advice is being presented in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service and is under the supervision of Robert C. Eichhorn, chief of the administration division, who will serve as moderator.

Blowups of actual tax forms used by the majority of taxpayers will graphically illustrate all of the necessary steps.

Viewers are encouraged to have their tax forms, W2 forms and records available so that they may prepare their own returns as the various steps are illustrated. Agents will be on hand to answer questions during the program and after the program. Viewers may contact the agents by calling CA 8-3881.

The first program will deal with the farm schedule. In the weeks following programs will devote attention to preparation of card form 1040A; short form 1040; long form 1040, part I, and long form 1040, part II. On March 2 a summary will be presented and answers to questions most frequently asked.

Freed Convict, 94, Planning To 'Rest Up' in Cleveland

COLUMBUS (AP)—Erect and alert, 94-year-old John Morgan left Ohio Penitentiary Thursday after serving nearly 30 years for the murder of a Cleveland junk dealer.

"I'm gonna rest up," Morgan said before boarding a bus for Cleveland where he will stay at the Salvation Army's Red Shield Lodge.

Before leaving the midtown prison, Morgan climbed the long stairway to the office of Warden Ralph W. Alvis to say goodbye.

The side trip to the warden's office was in answer to a special request that none of the other 18 parolees leaving at the same time asked.

"I want to see Alvis; Alvis is my friend," Morgan said.

"Hi, John," Alvis said in greeting his oldest prisoner. "Now be have yourself."

Morgan's lightly wrinkled face beamed as he shook hands with Alvis. "I used to be a worker, didn't I?" Morgan asked. "My back is getting better. I fell over a table at London."

Morgan, as a trustee, spent recent years at the London Prison Farm in Madison County and the Junction City honor camp in Perry County.

Just before leaving the penitentiary, Morgan received from cashier W. R. Herdman an envelope containing $34.22 of his own money and an advance of $50 in cash from the prison. A check for $358.45 was sent to Morgan's parole officer, Morgan received an order to report to the parole bureau's district office Friday.

Morgan said changed conditions outside the prison are not unfamiliar to him because of trips to the honor camps. He also has kept up on politics.

Morgan wore a brown felt hat, brown topcoat and suit. His six-foot frame was lean, his blue eyes clear, his complexion ruddy and his speech crisp.

"I used to be a discount man and carry $1,000 bills all the time," Morgan told listeners. "Everything I had in Ohio went out of Ohio to New York State. I don't have to work. I've got plenty of money."

Morgan declined to say how much he has or where it is.

Asked if he was guilty of the Cleveland slaying:

"Of course I didn't do it. Don't you know there are a lot of innocent men in there?"

Convicted in 1928 of the slaying of Jacob Rosenberg in the basement of the victim's home in Cleveland, Morgan was sentenced to life imprisonment. After being turned down 10 times by the parole board, he was granted his freedom at the 11th hearing.

Ohioan Is 100 Today

HAMILTON (AP)—Miss Elizabeth Blatt observed her 100th birthday here Thursday. She has been a lifelong resident of Butler County.

ents will be on hand to answer questions during the program and after the program. Viewers may contact the agents by calling CA 8-3881.

The first program will deal with the farm schedule. In the weeks following programs will devote attention to preparation of card form 1040A; short form 1040; long form 1040, part I, and long form 1040, part II. On March 2 a summary will be presented and answers to questions most frequently asked.

German GIs Still Polishing Boots

BONN, Germany (AP) — Despite the new democratic tone of the West German armed forces, Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss says soldiers must still clean officers' boots.

Strauss told a Socialist questioner in Parliament the army can't hire enough civilians to do the work so occasionally must call on enlisted men.

The question arose because a soldier was sentenced to five days detention for refusing to clean a captain's boots. Strauss said the soldier, a volunteer, was discharged from the army before he served the sentence.

So let's still treat all portions of Circleville alike, either no Shopping Centers anywhere in city limits or let anyone put in a Shopping Center or business when and wherever he can buy property and make arrangements.

Today, they are trying to rezone a good portion of the East end. Perhaps too for a shopping center. So far it has not been printed what companies, buildings or what portion of homes would be torn down if they were able to buy for parking lots for business.

My personal opinion: No man is better than anyone else, no portion of any town better than anyone else, no company better than anyone else, regardless of size, amount of business or amount of money anyone has. All should receive same consideration.

I do not believe in zoning especially as it might be used for certain persons or business. If one portion of town is protected by it, then all portions should be protected by it. Or tear it up and let Shopping Centers or any one build where and when they want to.

I have been in business working for myself and others in Circleville close to 30 years. I have yet to see any promotions for outlying neighborhood business, small or large. Yes, we have had promotions for uptown business, by various organizations and self promotions. Even to free parking meters and up-town parking lots, that's good they need it and if Shopping Centers come in town, they'll need lot more than that to survive. Yet, not a word for neighborhood business, even so I have greatly enjoyed a good living, have a nice home and greatly appreciate those that have made this possible. Thanks a lot.

So let's still treat all portions of Circleville alike, either no Shopping Centers anywhere in city limits or let anyone put in a Shopping Center or business when and wherever he can buy property and make arrangements.

How Accurate Is Living Cost Index?

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — If you cut down on your eating last month and happened to buy a new car you were as well off as you were in November, it says here in the cost of living index.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports its consumer price index was unchanged in December from the record high in November. Families who ate as much as ever and didn't buy a new car may disagree.

The BLS reports that meat, poultry and fish rose in price enough to push the food component of its index up 0.1 per cent. Rents rose 0.2 per cent and prices of new home appliances were up 0.4 per cent.

But the cost of living index as a whole shook off these upward trends to hold level because auto dealers started offering concessions to move large stocks. Prices of new cars dropped 2.3 per cent on the index.

All of which brings up the question of just how accurate such an index is in measuring the cost of living—an index to which many wage scales are now pegged.

BLS doesn't claim its index is infallible or that it mirrors the experience of everyone or even of that mythical thing, the average family. It just contends its index is the best under practical circumstances.

BLS bases its index on interviews with about 8,000 families, 2,000 food stores and 4,000 other concerns in 46 cities. Only families with annual incomes under $10,000 are included.

The index covers around 300 items which BLS says such a typical city family buys. Some of these items would be considered luxuries. For example, families don't buy new cars every month.

BLS officials explain that this is offset by its system of giving different weights to the various items on the index. Less weight is given to the price of cars than to a hike in public transit fares.

BLS recognizes that some families don't own cars and that many buy second hand. But millions pay transit fares every day.

BLS isn't interested in whether its items are luxuries or whether families should economize or look for bargains. Its index is based on surveys which it says show, after being averaged out, what kinds of goods and services the middle class city dweller buys, the quantity he buys in a year and the amount he spends for each article, and the quality of the item he purchases.

BLS officials stress that the food component far outweighs the price of new cars in setting up the index.

Postal Service Asked To Find Missing Solon

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Mayor Frank X. Kryzan has assigned Uncle Sam's postal service a job police have been trying to accomplish for three weeks—finding John J. Tobin Jr., councilman wanted as key man in an alleged $200,000 insurance swindle.

Kryzan said Tobin's absence from council is messing up orderly city administration. The letter said in part:

"Your absence impels me to request that you forward your written resignation to the city council so the orderly process of our local community's government can go forward unimpeded."

Where did the mayor send the letter? He addressed it: "Whereabouts unknown, U.S.A., Canada or Mexico."

Tax Advice Slated on TV

Actual "line-by-line" preparation of personal income tax forms will be demonstrated on the Tax Advice program series to be seen over WBNS-TV (channel 10) every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. starting January 26.

Tax Advice is being presented in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service and is under the supervision of Robert C. Eichhorn, chief of the administration division, who will serve as moderator.

Blowups of actual tax forms used by the majority of tax payers will graphically illustrate all of the necessary steps.

Viewers are encouraged to have their tax forms, W2 forms and records available so that they may prepare their own returns as the various steps are illustrated. Agents will be on hand to answer questions during the program and after the program. Viewers may contact the agents by calling CA 8-3881.

The first program will deal with the farm schedule. In the weeks following programs will devote attention to preparation of card form 1040A; short form 1040; long form 1040, part I, and long form 1040, part II. On March 2 a summary will be presented and answers to questions most frequently asked.

Freed Convict, 94, Planning To 'Rest Up' in Cleveland

COLUMBUS (AP)—Erect and alert, 94-year-old John Morgan left Ohio Penitentiary Thursday after serving nearly 30 years for the murder of a Cleveland junk dealer.

"I'm gonna rest up," Morgan said before boarding a bus for Cleveland where he will stay at the Salvation Army's Red Shield Lodge.

Before leaving the midtown prison, Morgan climbed the long stairway to the office of Warden Ralph W. Alvis to say goodbye.

The side trip to the warden's office was in answer to a special request that none of the other 18 parolees leaving at the same time asked.

"I want to see Alvis; Alvis is my friend," Morgan said. "Hi, John," Alvis said in greeting his oldest prisoner. "Now behave yourself."

Morgan's lightly wrinkled face beamed as he shook hands with Alvis. "I used to be a worker, didn't I?" Morgan asked. "My back is getting better. I fell over a table at London."

Morgan, as a trustee, spent recent years at the London Prison Farm in Madison County and the Junction City honor camp in Perry County.

Just before leaving the penitentiary, Morgan received from cashier W. R. Herdman an envelope containing $34.22 of his own money and an advance of $50 in cash from the prison. A check for $358.45 was sent to Morgan's parole officer.

Morgan received an order to report to the parole bureau's district office Friday.

Morgan said changed conditions outside the prison are not unfamiliar to him because of trips to the honor camps. He also has kept up on politics.

Morgan wore a brown felt hat, brown topcoat and suit. His six-foot frame was lean, his blue eyes clear, his complexion ruddy and his speech crisp.

"I used to be a discount man and carry $1,000 bills all the time," Morgan told listeners. "Everything I had in Ohio went out of Ohio to New York State. I don't have to work. I've got plenty of money."

Morgan declined to say how much he has or where it is. Asked if he was guilty of the Cleveland slaying:

"Of course I didn't do it. Don't you know there are a lot of innocent men in there?"

"They have always been good to me ever since I came to the pen," he added. "Of course, things are different now, but things look pretty good."

Convicted in 1928 of the slaying of Jacob Rosenberg in the basement of the victim's home in Cleveland, Morgan was sentenced to life imprisonment. After being turned down 10 times by the parole board, he was granted his freedom at the 11th hearing.

German GIs Still Polishing Boots

BONN, Germany (AP) — Despite the new democratic tone of the West German armed forces, Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss says soldiers must still clean officers' boots.

Strauss told a Socialist questioner in Parliament the army can't hire enough civilians to do the work so occasionally must call on enlisted men.

The question arose because a soldier was sentenced to five days detention for refusing to clean a captain's boots. Strauss said the soldier, a volunteer, was discharged from the army before he served the sentence.

Are All Men Created Equal?

A Shopping Center in the North end was turned down by council thru opposition. Considering too part of it was an old cow pasture without homes. Would a nice building here have been a lot better to see than weeds and etc.?

Today, they are trying to rezone a good portion of the East end. Perhaps too for a shopping center. So far it has not been printed what companies, buildings or what portion of homes would be torn down if they were able to buy for parking lots for business.

My personal opinion: No man is better than anyone else, no portion of any town better than anyone else, no company better than anyone else, regardless of size, amount of business or amount of money anyone has. All should receive same consideration.

I do not believe in zoning especially as it might be used for certain persons or business. If one portion of town is protected by it, then all portions should be protected by it. Or tear it up and let Shopping Centers or any one build where and when they want to.

I have been in business working for myself and others in Circleville close to 30 years. I have yet to see any promotions for outlying neighborhood business, small or large. Yes, we have had promotions for uptown business, by various organizations and self promotions. Even to free parking meters and up-town parking lots, that's good they need it and if Shopping Centers come in town, they'll need lot more than that to survive. Yet, not a word for neighborhood business, even so I have greatly enjoyed a good living, have a nice home and greatly appreciate those that have made this possible. Thanks a lot.

So let's still treat all portions of Circleville alike, either no Shopping Centers anywhere in city limits or let anyone put in a Shopping Center or business when and wherever he can buy property and make arrangements.

Business Upsurge Draws Near

Washington pundits and prognosticators are having a field day. By giving a slightly different twist to obvious reasoning, they attempt to make their words seem authoritative and original. But the consensus of "expert" opinion thus being relayed to the public is that inflation will continue on what seems an inexorable course.

There are no indications that price cuts in anything will be more than minor, while price advances continue to dominate the business news.

The reason: Costs are fixed inflexibly and will rise if production declines. Without a reduction in costs, price reductions to consumers would be unrealistic in the extreme.

The international news, as experienced Washington reporters see it, will continue in its present muddled state, with the Moscow propaganda mill continuing to work overtime. Russia will reiterate its theme of "disarmament" and "peace," but what the Kremlin has as its goal is the undermining of morale in Western nations. This scheme has already worked better than the reds had hoped it would.

Business economists continue to swing to predictions of a business upsurge later in the year. No unusual psychic powers are involved in these predictions. With increased government spending and inflation looming, it would be strange if business did not react with increased activity. An international incident could start scare buying and start industry humming at a greatly accelerated rate to fill pipelines to consumers.

Discipline Lacking in Home

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"Real love is sacrifice," said Ricardo Montalban, who typifies the Latin lover to millions of movie fans.

Montalban, currently starring in the Broadway musical, "Jam-ai-ca," has also appeared in some 50 films, and he's a bit weary of portraying Don Juan roles, roles in which he has to be a Casanova with a Spanish accent.

They make an ironic doom for the handsome young Mexican actor, who is married to Loretta Young's sister, has four children, and has old-fashioned views on both marriage and parenthood.

"The Don Juans of this world are not romantic or carefree," he said. "They are miserable frustrated creatures lost in their own egos."

"The most romantic man I know is my father. He is 86, and has been faithful to one woman all his life. He and my mother have been married 55 years."

"They are still like lovebirds and I don't mean in a silly sense. They didn't fight age. They grew old gracefully together. And they have achieved such a singleness of purpose that now they are almost like one human being."

Montalban believes the American husband is in some ways the best and kindest in the world, but that he sometimes shirks his duty in the home.

"He sometimes wants too much to be just a nice Joe to his wife and children," he said. "He hates the word authority too much."

"But in his home he should be more of a dictator—a good dictator with a sense of humor. He must remember that, after all, he chose to be the father—he was not elected."

"The American husband should exert a little more authority, not only with his children but also with his wife."

"A wife likes to be secure and protected, but she can't feel protected if she can always twist her man around her little finger and boss him. She feels lost and insecure."

To Montalban the failure of American parents to exercise more discipline on their children is little less than appalling.

"This theory that you should not curb a child's instincts but let him express himself in any way, let him paint on the wall, let him do anything, even set fire to the furniture, is nothing less than catastrophic," he said.

"It takes him unhappy, not happy. Children are much happier under discipline that teaches them justice."

"Punishment, if the child knows it is fair, brings the child and parent closer. He should think of you as a friend to whom he can bring any trouble. But he must also be made to realize that while a good deed wins praise, a bad deed must be punished; or else there is no justice."

"The best way to do this is for the parent to set the right example."

And here, Montalban feels, is where some of the trouble in the American home starts. The parents can't very well discipline the kids if they can't first discipline themselves.

Pentagon Versus Congress

By George Sokolsky

General Nathan F. Twining's agitation before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee had a familiar ring. He was annoyed with the committee for asking questions of military officers which the President had already answered. Precisely where else would a committee of Congress obtain the information if it did not come from those officers in the Pentagon who know the answers?

Does the Bureau of the Budget have a veto power over the acts of Congress as was established in the testimony of several witnesses? If anyone believes that that is so, he ought to read the law establishing the Bureau of the Budget and he will discover that it has no option but to obey an act of Congress, particularly an appropriations bill and that if the Bureau of the Budget diverts funds from purposes stipulated in an appropriations bill, passed by Congress and signed by the President, the head of that bureau is violating the law.

One of our difficulties today is that government tends to grow anarchic because there is an evasion of limitations placed upon various agencies by the Constitution. The Supreme Court has become legislative; the White House has become autocratic; Congress has become accustomed to be rubber-stampish and to be fearful of criticism, so that even Democratic Senators kow-tow to a Republican President and the other way around when the President is a Democrat.

Meanwhile the world has ceased to respect us for the very simple reason that we do not deliver when it is dramatically important to keep not only our promises but the hopes of the world high. I was reminded of a memorandum written in August 1942 by Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, Adviser on Political Relations of the State Department, in which he said:

"... Until the end of 1941, the peoples of the Far East, whether they liked us (and the British) or not, had great respect for us and felt confidence in us. Events in the Far East—to say nothing of those in Europe—during the past eight months have greatly diminished their respect for and weakened their confidence in us."

Those were the words of an ignored prophet who saw what was ahead in Asia, in China, Japan, the Philippines, Okinawa, Indonesia. We poured out only billions of dollars into that part of the world; we buried thousands of American youth there and that we cannot forget even if we can forego the dollars.

It is not only in Asia that we face the severe loss of face because of Sputnik. The same is true in Europe where some countries are afraid to accept our missiles and rockets and

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

YESTERDAY IT WAS penicillin and chlorophyll that people were excited about; today it's tranquilizer pills. One old lady in a small town actually demanded these pills because, she said, "the devil was pestering her and tempting her every night." The doctor indulgently gave her a few pills. When he saw her next he inquired, "Well, that devil still tormenting you?" "Yes, he is," admitted the old lady cheerfully, "but now I don't even bother to answer him."

In Texas, an old oil driller heard that his wife had been rushed to the hospital. He hastened to her side, then asked the doctor, "What ails her?" "We're not sure," frowned the doctor. "May we have your consent to perform an exploratory operation?" "Nothing doing," roared the driller. "Ain't nobody going to wildcat with my wife!"

Nail Disease Can Spread

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Are you bothered by "onychomycosis"? Many persons are.

You probably will recognize this disease by either of its more common names, fungus infection or ringworm of the nails.

The villains in this particular type of trouble are about as difficult to pronounce as the disease itself: the fungi Epidermophyton, Trichophyton, Aspergillum, Penicillium and Candida albicans.

Usually, only one nail is involved at first. Unless treatment is begun promptly, however, the disease generally progresses until all the nails are affected.

In some cases, the nails become separated from the bed; in the more serious cases, the nails are completely destroyed.

Pain is not a general symptom. So the best way of detecting trouble is to study your nails carefully as you clean them.

Incidentally, many systemic diseases are first indicated by a change in the nail structure. Thus, any ridging, discoloration — any change at all — should send you to your doctor for some expert advice on what should be done.

If your trouble is onychomycosis, your physician will most likely scrape your nails. Then he probably will apply double strength Whitfield's ointment.

Some cases are helped by short X-ray treatments.

In stubborn cases, ammoniacal silver nitrate solution may be needed. This is rather drawout treatment, however. The solution should be applied with a toothpick to form a thin film on the nail. This has to be done once a week for a period of eight weeks.

Another disadvantage of this treatment is that it temporarily turns the nails black.

The best general advice I can give anyone with a fungus infection of the nails is to keep your hands out of water as much as possible, since moisture speeds fungus growth, and see your doctor.

Question and Answer

G. T.: I have a dropped kidney. Is it necessary to have an operation for this?

Answer: In most cases of ptosis, or dropped kidney, the symptoms are not too severe and the condition can be treated without surgery. However, in a certain few cases, surgery is necessary. Your doctor can best determine that.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the most important and chilling statements to come out of Washington in a long time is the one just made — by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee — on our defense position as compared with the Soviet Union.

It is not pretty. It says the Russians are ahead in missiles and submarines; are catching up in air power and, at the rate they're going, will forge ahead; can develop new weapons faster; and are producing scientists and engineers at a greater rate.

None of that is new. All those comparisons have, in one way or another, been drawn by witnesses before the subcommittee which began its investigation of our defense program after the Soviet Union fired its Sputniks.

But in the days since the Sputniks went aloft the public has probably become confused about the true picture because of lily-gilding by some witnesses and the blame-naming by politicians of both parties against one another.

This statement, presented to the Senate late Thursday, puts the picture in focus. It is an informed, impartial, authoritative and non-political as such a document can be hoped to be. It's significant for three reasons:

1. The subcommittee drew its conclusions after 101 days of investigation in which it heard 70 witnesses, interviewed over 200 experts, and took more than 7,000 pages of testimony.

2. The subcommittee is made up of Democrats and Republicans. All agreed on what the statement contained. This unanimity makes it impartial and non-political. The members were talking as senators and not as Democrats or Republicans.

3. Because of the impartial nature of the statement it will be the background for judging what President Eisenhower proposes, and Congress does, in the days ahead to catch up with and get in front of the Russians.

After listing the fields in which the U.S.S.R. is ahead of this country, or soon may be, the subcommittee listed 17 points of action for the government to take to make the best use of its vitality, brains and manpower.

The statement was grim. It showed beyond question this country has been dragging its feet and has been asleep although it did not attempt to blame either the Truman or Eisenhower administrations.

It deliberately avoided blame. It had to. Otherwise, there would have been no unanimity on this statement which limited itself to saying where we've lost and what we need to do.

But Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader and chairman of the subcommittee, in reading the statement to the Senate, did not paint an entirely black picture. He said about Soviet superiority:

"These facts do not give cause for comfort. But we do not consider them a cause for despair or hopefulness. We regard them as a challenge."

"There is nothing in the record to indicate that America has lost its vitality or its capacity to produce in time whatever we need to retain our present power to strike devastating blows . . . at any aggressor."

Business Upsurge Draws Near

Washington pundits and prognosticators are having a field day. By giving a slightly different twist to obvious reasoning, they attempt to make their words seem authoritative and original. But the consensus of "expert" opinion thus being relayed to the public is that inflation will continue on what seems an inexorable course.

There are no indications that price cuts in anything will be more than minor, while price advances continue to dominate the business news.

The reason: Costs are fixed inflexibly and will rise if production declines. Without a reduction in costs, price reductions to consumers would be unrealistic in the extreme.

The international news, as experienced Washington reporters see it, will continue in its present muddled state, with the Moscow propaganda mill continuing to work overtime. Russia will reiterate its theme of "disarmament" and "peace," but what the Kremlin has as its goal is the undermining of morale in Western nations. This scheme has already worked better than the reds had hoped it would.

Business economists continue to swing to predictions of a business upsurge later in the year. No unusual psychic powers are involved in these predictions. With increased government spending and inflation looming, it would be strange if business did not react with increased activity. An international incident could start scare buying and start industry humming at a greatly accelerated rate to fill pipelines to consumers.

Discipline Lacking in Home

NEW YORK — "Real love is sacrifice," said Ricardo Montalban, who typifies the Latin lover to millions of movie fans. Montalban, currently starring in the Broadway musical, "Jamaica," has also appeared in some 50 films, and he's a bit weary of portraying Don Juan roles, roles in which he has to be a Casanova with a Spanish accent.

They make an ironic doom for the handsome young Mexican actor, who is married to Loretta Young's sister, has four children, and has old-fashioned views on both marriage and parenthood.

"The Don Juans of this world are not romantic or carefree," he said. "They are miserable frustrated creatures lost in their own egos."

"The most romantic man I know is my father. He is 86, and has been faithful to one woman all his life. He and my mother have been married 55 years."

"They are still like lovebirds and I don't mean in a silly sense. They didn't fight age. They grew old gracefully together. And they have achieved such a singleness of purpose that now they are almost like one human being." Montalban believes the American husband is in some ways the best and kindest in the world, but that he sometimes shirks his duty in the home.

"He sometimes wants too much to be just a nice Joe to his wife and children," he said. "He hates the word authority too much."

"But in his home he should be more of a dictator—a good dictator with a sense of humor. He must remember that, after all, he chose to be the father—he was not elected."

"The American husband should exert a little more authority, not only with his children but also with his wife."

"A wife likes to be secure and protected, but she can't feel protected if she can always twist her man around her little finger and boss him. She feels lost and insecure."

To Montalban the failure of American parents to exercise more discipline on their children is little less than appalling. "This theory that you should not curb a child's instincts but let him express himself in any way, let him paint on the wall, let him do anything, even set fire to the furniture, is nothing less than catastrophic," he said.

"It makes him unhappy, not happy. Children are much happier under discipline that teaches them justice."

"Punishment, if the child knows it is fair, brings the child and parent closer. He should think of you as a friend to whom he can bring any trouble. But he must also be made to realize that while a good deed wins praise, a bad deed must be punished; or else there is no justice. "The best way to do this is for the parent to set the right example."

And here, Montalban feels, is where some of the trouble in the American home starts. The parents can't very well discipline the kids if they can't first discipline themselves.

Pentagon Versus Congress

General Nathan F. Twining's agitation before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee had a familiar ring. He was annoyed with the committee for asking questions of military officers which the President had already answered. Precisely where else would a committee of Congress obtain the information if it did not come from those officers in the Pentagon who know the answers?

Does the Bureau of the Budget have a veto power over the acts of Congress as was established in the testimony of several witnesses? If anyone believes that that is so, he ought to read the law establishing the Bureau of the Budget and he will discover that it has no option but to obey an act of Congress, particularly an appropriations bill and that if the Bureau of the Budget diverts funds from purposes stipulated in an appropriations bill, passed by Congress and signed by the President, the head of that bureau is violating the law.

One of our difficulties today is that government tends to grow anarchic because there is an evasion of limitations placed upon various agencies by the Constitution. The Supreme Court has become legislative; the White House has become autocratic; Congress has become accustomed to be rubber-stampish and to be fearful of criticism, so that even Democratic Senators kow-tow to a Republican President and the other way around when the President is a Democrat.

Meanwhile the world has ceased to respect us for the very simple reason that we do not de-

live when it is dramatically important to keep not only our promises but the hopes of the world high. I was reminded of a memorandum written in August 1942 by Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, Adviser on Political Relations of the State Department, in which he said:

"...Until the end of 1941, the peoples of the Far East, whether they liked us (and the British) or not, had great respect for us and felt confidence in us. Events in the Far East—to say nothing of those in Europe—during the past eight months have greatly diminished their respect for and weakened their confidence in us..."

Those were the words of an ignored prophet who saw what was ahead in Asia, in China, Japan, the Philippines, Okinawa, Indonesia. We poured not only billions of dollars into that part of the world; we buried thousands of American youth there and that we cannot forget even if we can forego the dollars.

It is not only in Asia that we face the severe loss of face because of Sputnik. The same is true in Europe where some countries are afraid to accept our missiles and rockets and even dollars. The same is true if the British or Canadians want to go their own way even when to go their own way is cutting off their noses to spite their faces.

In a word, we face the same difficulty that we did when we lost the Korean War. Countries always reassess their policies after a defeat and Sputnik was for us, the principal manufacturing nation on earth, a defeat.

It is for this reason that Congress needs to pry into the secrets of the Pentagon which is not a gentlemen's club where old cronies get together to scratch each other's backs, but the central organ of the United States for the defense of the country upon the efficiency of which our lives and the future of our country depend.

The notorious Zwicker Case was precisely over this problem, namely how far may an officer go in telling the truth when he has been silenced by a superior. General Twining said:

"You can say it (the budget) is inadequate, and turn your suit in. We do not play that way. If you say it is adequate, then you do not feel good about that."

"In the military terminology, a commander makes a decision and if everybody starts bucking it, it is just no good, you have no military."

That ought not to be acceptable by the Congress which has a right to know the truth about the state of the nation. If Congress appropriates too little money or if the people hate to pay heavy taxes, it could be because the truth has not been made known to them. The truth is not known yet despite investigations and a plethora of speeches. Why did Russia Sputnik first? That is the question.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

YESTERDAY IT WAS penicillin and chlorophyll that people were excited about; today it's tranquilizer pills. One old lady in a small town actually demanded these pills because,

she said, "the devil was pestering her and tempting her every night." The doctor indulgently gave her a few pills. When he saw her next he inquired, "Well, that devil still tormenting you?" "Yes, he is," admitted the old lady cheerfully, "but now I don't even bother to answer him."

In Texas, an old oil driller heard that his wife had been rushed to the hospital. He hastened to her side, then asked the doctor, "What ails her?" "We're not sure," frowned the doctor. "May we have your consent to perform an exploratory operation?" "Nothing doing," roared the driller. "Ain't nobody going to wildcat with my wife!"

Nail Disease Can Spread

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Are you bothered by "onychomycosis"? Many persons are.

You probably will recognize this disease by either of its more common names, fungus infection or ringworm of the nails.

The villains in this particular type of trouble are about as difficult to pronounce as the disease itself: the fungi Epidermophyton, Trichophyton, Aspergillum, Penicillium and Candida albicans.

Usually, only one nail is involved at first. Unless treatment is begun promptly, however, the disease generally progresses until all the nails are affected.

In some cases, the nails become separated from the bed; in the more serious cases, the nails are completely destroyed.

Pain is not a general symptom. So the best way of detecting trouble is to study your nails carefully as you clean them.

Incidentally, many systemic diseases are first indicated by a change in the nail structure. Thus, any ridging, discoloration — any change at all — should send you to your doctor for some expert advice on what should be done.

Some cases are helped by short X-ray treatments. In stubborn cases, ammoniacal silver nitrate solution may be needed. This is rather drawout treatment, however. The solution should be applied with a toothpick to form a thin film on the nail. This has to be done once a week for a period of eight weeks.

Another disadvantage of this treatment is that it temporarily turns the nails black.

The best general advice I can give anyone with a fungus infection of the nails is to keep your hands out of water as much as possible, since moisture speeds fungus growth, and see your doctor.

Question and Answer
G. T.: I have a dropped kidney. Is it necessary to have an operation for this?

Answer: In most cases of ptosis, or dropped kidney, the symptoms are not too severe and the condition can be treated without surgery. However, in a certain few cases, surgery is necessary. Your doctor can best determine that.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — One of the most important and chilling statements to come out of Washington in a long time is the one just made — by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee — on our defense position as compared with the Soviet Union.

It is not pretty. It says the Russians are ahead in missiles and submarines; are catching up in air power and, at the rate they're going, will forge ahead; can develop new weapons faster; and are producing scientists and engineers at a greater rate.

None of that is new. All those comparisons have, in one way or another, been drawn by witnesses before the subcommittee which began its investigation of our defense program after the Soviet Union fired its Sputniks.

But in the days since the Sputniks went aloft the public has probably become confused about the true picture because of lily-gilding by some witnesses and the blame-naming by politicians of both parties against one another.

This statement, presented to the Senate late Thursday, puts the picture in focus. It is an informed, impartial, authoritative and non-political as such a document can be hoped to be. It's significant for three reasons:

1. The subcommittee drew its conclusions after 101 days of investigation in which it heard 70 witnesses, interviewed over 200 experts, and took more than 7,000 pages of testimony.

2. The subcommittee is made up of Democrats and Republicans. All agreed on what the statement contained. This unanimity makes it impartial and nonpolitical. The members were talking as senators and not as Democrats or Republicans.

3. Because of the impartial nature of the statement it will be the background for judging what President Eisenhower proposes, and Congress does, in the days ahead to catch up with and get in front of the Russians.

After listing the fields in which the U.S.S.R. is ahead of this country, or soon may be, the subcommittee listed 17 points of action for the government to take to make the best use of its vitality, brains and manpower.

The statement was grim. It showed beyond question this country has been dragging its feet and has been asleep although it did not attempt to blame either the Truman or Eisenhower administrations.

It deliberately avoided blame. It had to. Otherwise, there would have been no unanimity on this statement which limited itself to saying where we've lost and what we need to do.

But Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader and chairman of the subcommittee, in reading the statement to the Senate, did not paint an entirely black picture. He said about Soviet superiority:

"These facts do not give cause for comfort. But we do not consider them a cause for despair or hopelessness. We regard them as a challenge..."

"There is nothing in the record to indicate that America has lost its vitality or its capacity to produce in time whatever we need to retain our present power to strike devastating blows... at any aggressor."

"While the future is very close — extremely close — it is still under our control."

Organization of the Church

THE FIRST DEACONS ARE APPOINTED

Scripture—Acts 6:1-7; 20:16-38; Romans 12:3-8; 1 Timothy 3;

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE LESSON today, in the chapters assigned from Acts, takes us from the early days of the Christian church in Jerusalem to the very end of Paul's missionary journeys.

In the early church a complaint arose that the widows of Greek-speaking Jewish Christians were not being given equal treatment with the widows of Palestinian Hebrew Christians.

The 12 apostles pointed out that they could not "serve tables" —that is, attend to these matters—as they must preach and pray with the people. This may remind us of today, when many ministers are expected to be so active in the financial affairs of their churches, in building new churches and many other matters, that they sometimes find it difficult to find time for the necessary study to preach the Lord's word as they would wish.

The apostles acted wisely. They called a meeting of all the disciples and suggested that seven able men be chosen to remedy the matter. The seven were selected and the apostles prayed with them, then blessed them by the laying on of hands. These were the first church deacons, although they were not so called at that time.

From the sixth chapter of Acts
we now go to the 20th—16-38—in which Paul is on his last missionary journey. At Miletus, a flourishing city in Asia Minor, he sent for the elders of the Ephesian church to come to him. He decided to sail past Ephesus, although he might arrive in Jerusalem for the day of Pentecost.

When the elders from Ephesus came to him, Paul reminded them of his long ministry there. Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.

He told them that he had served them faithfully for many years, but that now he must go to Jerusalem.
He did not know, but feared, what might await him there, as he was often plotted against. He might never see them again.

Filled with sorrow at his words, the elders wept and embraced him as he told them, "Ye yourselves know, that these hands have ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me."

"I have showed you all things, how that so laboring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

When they accompanied him to the ship that would bear him away, Paul knelt and prayed with them all, "and they all wept sore, and fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him, sorrowing most of all that they should see his face no more." We can be sure that no man or woman who saw Paul's face and heard him speak would ever forget this man.

We cannot quote from Paul's epistle to the Ephesians because of lack of space. His words should be studied carefully by the teachers and older young people, some of whom may become later deacons or other officers in their church. Paul stresses that the men who fill these offices should be of high moral character and zealous in the duties of their positions.

The younger classes might be reminded, Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests, that all businesses, charitable enterprises, schools, etc., must have a head or administrator and lesser officials. So must a church be organized with officials to attend to its business.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: For the last year I have been going with Ronald, let's call him. I am very much in love with him and there has been talk of marriage.
I never tried nor asked questions about his past life because I never doubted our feelings were mutual.
Recently, when he failed to show up for a dinner date, we had our first big argument. After some disagreement he told me that he has been "unofficially engaged" to someone else and can't see any possible way that he could ever marry me.

He said that he has to marry the other girl because she's been waiting patiently for several years for him to get organized in his profession so that she wouldn't be a burden to him. He insists that he is definitely in love with me but to save her from ridicule and embarrassment he must marry her.

He is sorry he let things go so long before telling me; but he says that I will soon get over him and find happiness elsewhere. And yet he says he has faith that some day we will be together.

This jolt happened two weeks ago and I am unable to sleep or find any peace of mind since. I am completely exhausted and think of him constantly—wondering if there is any way by which I might still win him.

DEAR S.Y.: As I get the picture, Ronald was running away from the other girl's matrimonial campaign (patiently and persistently pursued) when he fell into step with you; and took a chance that lighthearted companionship might be had. At least for a while.

But now that you are becoming proprietary, too, with talk of marriage in the air, he is about to take off again. And in a fit of temper, when you were seeming to take his love for granted, he let you know the truth—namely, that you don't have any strings on him.

As to whether he intends to marry the other girl, or ever will marry her, I wouldn't bet on it.
Somebody new probably will catch him, if he is to be caught, in the next few years.

He seems a fairly familiar type in the ranks of unmarried males—a chap who likes to believe he is as mature, self - possessed and ready for marriage as the next fellow; if only it weren't for some circumstance (so he argues) blocking the way or compelling delay, in his case.

Actually he backs away from marriage—while all the time slyly coquetting with the alleged probability—because he is deeply afraid of the requirements of the relationship.

The jolt that hit you two weeks ago was simply the curtain falling again on Ronald's recurrent pretense of being the answer to a maiden's prayer. Don't blame yourself for the sorry ending of the little drama. This end was implicit in the beginning, in the fact that you ever dated him. Pull yourself together and outgrow the memory of the mistake.

Only 1 Guy in City Shoveling Snow

LARAMIE, Wyo. (P)—Less than 2 inches of snow had fallen in

Ralph Moss had to shovel his

He complained to police that pranksters every night had carted snow to his house and piled it across his walk.

Demise of Zoo

MILWAUKEE (P)—One of the most widely known and historic parts of Milwaukee's zoo has been doomed by demolition plans for an expressway.

The two dens which housed the first polar bears born in captivity and raised successfully soon will be torn down. In the dens, 19 polar bears were born over the last 38 years and 16 grew to maturity. Zoo officials say it's a record unmatched by any zoo in the country.

A new zoo is being built at another site.

Ohio Township Officials Set For Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Hundreds of Ohio township officials focus their attention today on what some feel is the harmful practice by big municipalities of grabbing off unincorporated areas through annexation.

A talk by Columbus Atty. Thomas W. Applegate on "The Impact of Annexation on Townships" is expected to trigger a general discussion on the subject at today's session of the 30th annual convention of the Ohio State Assn. of Township Trustees and Clerks.

Charles P. Baker Jr., secretary-treasurer of the association, said Thursday the general feeling among township officials is that townships and municipalities "should be partners, not competitors in local government."

"Our position," Baker said, "is that this is a two-way street. The rising costs are hitting the townships as well as the municipalities. Stripping the townships for the benefit of the municipalities is going to make it worse. The problems of local government must be solved on an over-all basis instead of concentration on municipal financial problems alone."

Speakers at Thursday's opening session included Atty. Gen. William Saxbe and Meade Baltz, director of the Illinois Assn. of Township Trustees and Clerks. Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court spoke at a banquet Thursday night.

The convention ends Saturday.
About 1,750 township officials are attending.

Mechanical Heart Predicted Coming

COLUMBUS (P)—Medical science in the foreseeable future will develop a mechanical heart to replace defective human hearts, a noted heart specialist says.

Dr. Dwight E. Harken of Boston, told a meeting of the Central Ohio Heart Assn's scientific council that initial research has been done which eventually will lead to mechanical substitution of the heart's functions on a long-term basis as well as successful transplantation of human hearts.

It may take 50 years, Dr. Harken said, but "I'm not guessing about these things."

Envoy's Wife Discovers Chinese Like Yankee Style

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (P)—Mrs. Howard P. Jones, wife of the new United States ambassador to Nationalist China, can eat with chop sticks like an "old China hand" and finds it fun, but she'll set the embassy table with knives and forks.

"And I'll serve our own kind of food," she told me before leaving their home in the capital where they've been living since 1954.
"The Chinese like to eat American style."

The Joneses are familiar with Oriental customs, having lived in Taipei, the capital of Formosa, where he served as counselor and charge d'affaires. They will inherit the staff of former Ambassador Karl L. Rankin, who has been appointed American envoy to Yugoslavia.

Though most Americans live right in Taipei and the United States has an official residence there, the Joneses will spend most of their time at the embassy residence in the mountains, about 25 minutes from the capital, where President and Mrs. Chiang Kai-shek also have a home.

"It is a perfectly delightful place with a fabulous view," Mrs. Jones said, "and Mrs. Rankin who was there about seven years has fixed it up beautifully, combining Western and Oriental furnishings and decor. It lends itself nicely for entertaining, though for really large affairs we'll use the town residence."

The former Mary Louise Rendall of Des Moines, Iowa, she attended the Universities of Chicago and Wisconsin, where she met her husband in her freshman year.
They were married in 1921. Jones, a former editor of a chain of Midwest newspapers, professor of journalism at Columbia University and one-time deputy comptroller of New York state, spent several years with the U. S. military government in Germany and directed the United States' foreign ad-operations in Indonesia a year before his first assignment in Tai-pei.

Both the ambassador and his wife enjoy tennis and golf, though she says he is particularly interested in writing and sailing. As for herself, she keeps busy with civic activities, charities and club work.

THE FIRST DEACONS ARE APPOINTED

Scripture—Acts 6:1-7; 20:16-38; Romans 12:3-8; 1 Timothy 3; 5:17-22.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE LESSON today, in the chapters assigned from Acts, takes us from the early days of the Christian church in Jerusalem to the very end of Paul's missionary journeys.

In the early church a complaint arose that the widows of Greek-speaking Jewish Christians were not being given equal treatment with the widows of Palestinian Hebrew Christians.

The 12 apostles pointed out that they could not "serve tables"—that is, attend to these matters—as they must preach and pray with the people. This may remind us of today, when many ministers are expected to be so active in the financial affairs of their churches, in building new churches and many other matters, that they sometimes find it difficult that he had served them faithfully for many years, but that now he must go to Jerusalem. He did not know, but feared, what might await him there, as he was often plotted against. He might never see them again.

Filled with sorrow at his words, the elders wept and embraced him as he told them, "Ye yourselves know, that these hands have ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me."

"I have showed you all things, how that so laboring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

When they accompanied him to the ship that would bear him away, Paul knelt and prayed with them all, "and they all wept sore, and fell on Paul's neck, and cult to find time for the necessary study to preach the Lord's word as they would wish.

The apostles acted wisely. They called a meeting of all the disciples and suggested that seven able men be chosen to remedy the matter. The seven were selected and the apostles prayed with them, then blessed them by the laying on of hands. These were the first church deacons, although they were not so called at that time.

From the sixth chapter of Acts we now go to the 20th—16-38—in which Paul is on his last missionary journey. At Miletus, a flourishing city in Asia Minor, he sent for the elders of the Ephesian church to come to him. He decided to sail past Ephesus that he might arrive in Jerusalem for the day of Pentecost.

When the elders from Ephesus came to him, Paul reminded them of the outlines produced by the National Council of Churches of Christ kissed him, sorrowing most of all that they should see his face no more." We can be sure that no man or woman who saw Paul's face and heard him speak would ever forget this man.

We cannot quote from Paul's epistle to the Ephesians because of lack of space. His words should be studied carefully by the teachers and older young people, some of whom may become later deacons or other officers in their church. Paul stresses that the men who fill these offices should be of high moral character and zealous in the duties of their positions.

The younger classes might be reminded, Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests, that all businesses, charitable enterprises, schools, etc., must have a head or administrator and lesser officials. So must a church be organized with officials to attend to its business. "Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: For the last year I have been going with Ronald, let's call him. I am very much in love with him and there has been talk of marriage. I never pried nor asked questions about his past life because I never doubted our feelings were mutual. Recently, when he failed to show up for a dinner date, we had our first big argument. After some disagreement he told me that he has been "unofficially engaged" to someone else and can't see any possible way that he could ever marry me.

He said that he has to marry the other girl because she's been waiting patiently for several years for him to get organized in his profession so that she wouldn't be a burden to him. He insists that he is definitely in love with me but to save her from ridicule and embarrassment he must marry her.

He is sorry he let things go so long before telling me; but he says that I will soon get over him and find happiness elsewhere. And yet he says he has faith that some day we will be together.

This jolt happened two weeks ago and I am unable to sleep or find any peace of mind since. I am completely exhausted and think of him constantly—wondering if there is any way by which I might still win him.

Pickaway DAR Observes James Monroe's Anniversary

Theodore Snyder Presents Address

Observance of the bi-centennial anniversary of the birth of James Monroe highlighted the meeting of the Pickaway Plains Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, this week in the home of Mrs. R. R. Bales.

Theodore Snyder, superintendent of Scioto Twp. School, addressed the group on Monroe's ancestry, character and contribution to public service which influenced and helped to promote the American political philosophy.

Mr. Snyder said Monroe's presidential administrations are labeled in our history books as the Era of good feeling; a period of serenity and peace that we may never know again, when the nation was quietly consolidating itself and preparing for the great surge of "manifest destiny" that was later to push the borders to their greatest limits. Peace with Canada was signed and has lasted over one hundred years, the Missouri Compromise was enacted and the famous Monroe Doctrine, cornerstone of American foreign policy since its pronouncement in 1823, are all well-known accomplishments of his two administrations. In plain terms the Doctrine spoke bluntly to European powers to "mind your own business and don't interfere in affairs of the Western Hemisphere."

Miss Dorothy McArthur presented a brief resume of the life of Theodore Roosevelt whose 100th birthday is celebrated this year. "TR", who was poison to the ultra-conservative wing of the Republican party, was "kicked upstairs" to the supposedly unimportant and politically impotent nomination of Vice President in an effort to squash his persistence in calling for social and political reform but when President McKinley was fatally shot by an assassin, TR was in position to take bold action and became a rallying point for the liberal movement within the country.

The Pure Food and Drug Act, acquisition of the Panama Canal and the conservation and preservation of our natural forests are striking examples of his administrations.

Mrs. Clifton Mahaffey spoke on the challenge that presents itself to women in view of their increased influence and privileges in the social, political and economic life of the country.

Mrs. O. J. Towers recounted the life of one of the great figures of hymnology, Charles Wesley, whose prolific and imaginative mind created 6500 hymns, among them the familiar "Hark the Herald Angels Sing"; "Christ the Lord is Risen Today"; "Come Thou Long Expected Jesus". At one time he held an appointment as secretary to Lord Ogelthorpe of Georgia and spent one year in this "Colony" before ill-health forced his return to England in 1736.

Mrs. George Armstrong, Chairman of the Friends of the Museum committee, asked all members to seek membership in this organization which supports the DAR museum, an outstanding depository and exhibition hall for objects of Americana.

Chairman of special legislation, Mrs. Charles May, distributed pamphlets issued by the local Bar Assn. describing duties and performances of jury members.

The chaplain, Mrs. Christian Schwartz, read resolutions of respect for Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger who had always been a faithful and willing worker in the local Chapter ready to give freely and warmly to its needs.

The regent, Miss Marie Hamilton, requested that members plan to send something that can be sold at the Junior Bazaar Booth at the State Conference, proceeds going for the benefit of scholarships to approved schools. Miss Elizabeth Stevenson was named to help in this work. Mrs. Clarence McAbee, chairman of approved schools, stated there was still time to send her good used clothing which she will collect and package.

Delegates and alternates to State and National Conferences were elected as follows: State (delegates): Miss Hamilton, Mrs. R. R. Bales, Mrs. Stanley Beckett, Miss B. McCoy; Alternates: Miss Alice Ada May, Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mrs. Clarence McAbee, Mrs. Florence Brown, Mrs. Leslie May. Delegates to national: Miss Hamilton and Mrs. Bales; Alternates, Mrs. Martin Cromley, Mrs. Charles May, Mrs. Kermit Dountz and Mrs. Sattley Beckett.

The annual Washington Tea will be an open meeting at the Presbyterian Church February 18. Members are urged to bring a guest.

Following adjournment refreshments were served by the hostess and members of her committee: Mrs. Martin Cromley, Mrs. Walter Hedges, Mrs. Charles May, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Miss Martha Warner, Mrs. Walter Kinder, Mrs. Mahaffey, Mrs. Harry Speakman and Mrs. Arthur Hines.

AAUW Meet Set Monday Night

Mrs. Malcolm Lawrence, 202 N. Scioto St., will be the hostess when the AAUW meets Monday at 8 p. m.

The program will be on parliamentary procedure. Following the program a humorous skit will be given by Mrs. William Speakman, Mrs. Robert Doherty, Mrs. Hewitt Harmout and Mrs. Richard Boyd. Refreshment committee will be Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Jack Gray.

FINISH YOUR MEAL with freshly brewed hot tea, served with lemon or cream, and a dessert spectacular, such as Napoleons, easily made with graham crackers and vanilla pudding-pie filling mix.

Specialties of Your House

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Nothing leaves a nicer memory than a delicious dessert. That's why a homemaker's hostess honors are often based on the way she winds up a meal.

Often a successful dessert becomes a specialty of the house. Guests look forward to it, time after time, are disappointed if something new is substituted for the old favorite.

If you're looking for a dessert specialty, we've two delicious suggestions. Both look divine, are easy to make, thanks to pudding and pie filling mixes.

Napoleons feature the filling layered between graham crackers, topped off with a sugar glaze decorated with chocolate garnish.

Napoleons: Combine 1 pkg. vanilla pudding and pie filling and 1 c. milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to full boil, about 3 min. Chill.

Spread filling on three graham crackers, stack one on top of the other and cover with a fourth cracker. Spread top with Sugar Glaze. Decorate with thin lines of Chocolate Garnish. Repeat until all filling and crackers have been used. Chill about 2 hrs. Then cut each stack in half with sharp knife.

Chocolate Garnish: Melt ¼ square of dot chocolate in 1½ tsp. hot water. Blend. Makes 12 deliciously rich Napoleons.

Mousse Cakes: Combine in saucepan 1 pkg. dark and sweet chocolate pudding mix with 1½ c. milk and 2 egg yolks. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly; mixture will be very thick.

Remove from heat; stir in 2 tsp. margarine or butter, ½ tsp. almond or vanilla extract; ¼ c. finely chopped blanched almonds. Cool.

round to make shell with edges about 1 in. thick. Chill.

When pudding is cold, whip 1 c. heavy cream with 2 tsp. confectioners' sugar; gently fold in pudding. Turn mixture into cake shells; refrigerate until serving time. Then place cakes or trays; carefully frost with 1 c. heavy cream that has been whipped with 2 tsp. confectioners' sugar and ¼ tsp. almond or vanilla extract. Sprinkle top edges of cakes with toasted blanched almonds. To serve, cut into wedges. Makes 12 to 16 servings.

CHIFFON OR SPONGE cake, split into rounds is the basis for Mousse Cakes filled with chocolate pudding, frosted with cream.

Study Group Holds Meet in Hamrick Home

The Gourmet Study Group of the AAUW met in the home of Mrs. George Hamrick, Lynwood Ave., for its January meeting.

Mrs. Ralph Scotoni Jr., a native of Switzerland, gave a delightful talk on Swiss cooking. She told of the use of herbs for meat and vegetable dishes.

Wine is always served with the meal and the kind is determined by the meat, whether dark or light. Coffee is never served with the meal, always later.

Her listeners were interested to learn that desserts are served only on Sundays, Holy Days, and birthdays. Ice cream is served only during warm months and never with a second dessert, such as cake or pie.

Soup is served once or twice each day at the beginning of the meal. A soup is considered good if a spoon will stand alone when thrust into the bowl.

The main meal of the day is served at noon since the Swiss family enjoys a two hour lunch period.

Mrs. Scotoni was introduced by Mrs. Carl Heffelfinger. Refreshments were served to the members, speaker, and guest.

Mrs. Johnson Is Host to Nurse Group

Mrs. Robert Johnson, Woodland Drive, was hostess to the Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn. Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Carl Seymour, vice president, presided over the business meeting. Several items of business were discussed, following reports from the committee chairman.

Paul Roan, head laboratory technician at Berger Hospital, was guest speaker. Mr. Roan pointed out different diagnosing procedures and gave the meaning and results obtained. These results are of great importance to the physician in prescribing for his patient.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. Orville West, co-hostess.

The February meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Morris Lewis, Cambridge Place, Knollwood Village, with Mrs. Thomas Matesky serving as co-hostess.

Household Hints

The cement lines between ceramic tiles may be bleached with hydrogen peroxide if stains persist after washing with hot water and suds and a soft brush.

Mix one-quarter cup of finely diced pared apple with a pint of slightly softened ice cream; return to freezing compartment so ice cream will become very firm. Serve ice cream between individual meringues whose bottoms have been crushed in.

Cook four medium-sized potatoes, after peeling; dice fine. Add to 1-½ cups medium cream sauce that's been well seasoned. Reheat and sprinkle with paprika before serving.

Home Teams Chalk Wins in College Play

Iowa Sets Up Defense Against Minnesota's Jump Shot Artist

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four Ohio college basketball games were on tap Thursday night and in all of them the home teams posted victories.

Bowling Green headed the list with an unusual finish to its 73-72 conquest of Detroit.

With the score knotted 72-72 and one second remaining in the game, a Titan player called a timeout—Detroit's sixth of the evening. Since only five time-outs are allowed, the officials awarded a free throw to the Falcons and Jim Darrow sank the important shot.

The free throw also ran Darrow's point production to 30 for the evening.

In an Ohio Conference battle, Wittenberg remained unbeaten and the leader in the conference by turning back Muskingum 64-49. The Lutherans are 7-0 in the conference and 11-2 for the season.

The Muskies reaped some honors from the game, their third loss in seven league tilts, as Bill Frazier scored 19 points to lead the scorers. Muskingum has an 8-4 overall record.

In Athens, Ohio University avenged an earlier defeat and posted their seventh victory in their last eight games, 71-57 over Morehead State. The Bobcats at one point in the second half enjoyed a 22-point lead.

Findlay was the only other team in action and the Oilers dumped Huntington of Indiana 106-89 for their ninth win in 11 games.

Scoring honors for the game went to Huntington's Tom Rethlake who poured in 17 field goals and three free throws for 37 points.

An apparent mixup in dates had fans waiting at Institute, W. Va., for the West Virginia State-Rio Grande game Thursday night, but the Redmen failed to put in an appearance.

Rio coach Ed Harter said his contract with State calls for the game to be played Feb. 3, and he said his team would be there then.

Kline, a jump-shot specialist, last year scored 40 points against Iowa. The Hawkeyes are setting up defenses for him this time, but so have other teams and Kline has managed to average 22.7 points in three conference games to be third leading scorer.

Despite this balanced scoring, Minnesota is ninth in the standings with a 1-2 record, possibly because it has averaged only 38 rebounds a game.

Iowa is eighth with 2-3 and has a rebound average of 41. Each team has been hitting about equally well from the floor, Iowa making .347 of its shots and Minnesota .354. The Hawkeyes' top scorer is Dave Gunther, fifth in the conference with 19.2.

In the only other Big Ten game on a schedule bottled by semester examinations, Northwestern (2-2) is at Michigan State in fourth place and the winner again will be in a challenging position for the lead held by Michigan with 3-1. Michigan's next Big Ten action is against Purdue Feb. 1.

The Spartans downed Northwestern last Saturday 83-78 then ran into a 66-52 defeat at Wisconsin Monday when hit only 32 percent of their baskets.

14 Baseball Clubs Wooing St. Louis' Dave Nicholson

Havana Owner Praises Pitcher to Detroit

NEW YORK (AP) — A Cuban sugar king who touted Detroit on Jim Bunning last winter is tabbing Bob Shaw as the hottest pitching prospect in the Tiger organization.

Bob Maduro, owner of the Havana club in the International League, told Tiger officials recently that the 24-year-old Bronx-born right-hander is a cinch to make it big in the majors in another year or two.

Shaw currently owns a 12-5 record with the Marianas club of the Cuban Winter League. His earned run average is a remarkable 1.25 per game.

Shaw was invited to the Tigers' special school in the spring of 1956 and sent down to "A" ball where he had a combined 9-11 record at Augusta, Ga., and Syracuse, N.Y. The youngster began the 1957 season at Toronto but was shipped to Charleston after winning only one of three decisions. He did better in the American Assn., winning eight of 12.

Manager Jack Tighe also is eager to get a good look at Jim Rozman, the lad who lost only one of 21 starts in the Sally League last year. A native of Detroit, the 26-year-old, 195-pounder turned in a brilliant 1.63 earned run average, winning 15 games and losing one with Augusta, Ga.

Larry Osborne is the only new infielder. A big, strapping left-handed hitter, the 22-year-old first baseman sandwiched a brief trial with the Tigers in mid-season between a .287 average at Birmingham and a .305 mark at Charleston. He had 12 homers and 58 RBIs in 74 games with the Barons.

Joe Brown Favored To Trip Williams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown, who wants to quit the ring after this year, is a heavy favorite to beat Ernie Williams of Washington in their 10-round televised scrap tonight.

Brown, 31-year-old New Orleans veteran, is shooting for his 68th triumph in a career that began in 1946. Unless he changes his mind, that career is on its last leg.

Odds were steep that he would whip Sonny Boy Williams, only 21, who has been in 25 bouts against the champ's 92.

6-9 Joe Ruklick with a 17 average, but he was held to 14 points in the first meeting with MSU.

Bob Anderreg (15.8), John Green (14.5), Jack Quigley (13.8) and Larry Hedden (13-3) give the Spartans fine scoring balance. Green pumped in 22 points against Northwestern and retrieved as many rebounds. He tops the Big Ten in rebounding with 74 in four games.

Cincinnati Given Edge To Garner Laurels

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bradley's 92-83 victory over Wichita Thursday night leaves a jumble in the Missouri Valley Conference standings only slightly less puzzling than a league lineup that has seen shifts of seven schools in recent years.

Cincinnati seems in the best shape now to pick off major honors. Oscar Robertson & Co. will have the home court advantage in five of their last six conference games, starting with Wichita Saturday night.

Bobby Joe Mason scored 26 points and Barney Cable 20 as Bradley belted Wichita out of the top spot Thursday night at Peoria, Ill.

Arkansas shook off the stiffness of a 10-day layoff for exams and won its sixth straight, 50-43 over Tulsa; and Bowling Green used a time out to beat Detroit 73-72 in other features of a slim excitement program.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, who'll soon get back to protecting their lead in the Southwest Conference, took command of Tulsa in the late going on Fred Grim's set shot with 4:15 left.

Western Kentucky, with big Ralph Crosswhite scoring 18 points, bounced Middle Tennessee 69-67, enabling Tennessee Tech to take over undisputed leadership in the Ohio Valley Conference.

2-Club City Rule Studied For Baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia and Detroit can be two-club cities, like Chicago, if baseball changes its rules as expected at Saturday's joint meeting.

Nobody has talked about moving in the last few days and there appear to be no immediate prospect of any 10-team league or a third major. But the rules will be in the book in case anybody wants to make a move.

Under the present rules it is necessary to get unanimous approval in both leagues for one major league team to move to a city in the other major league. In the future it will require only the approval of the club's own league.

A four-man committee drew up recommendations for a change in the rules Jan. 3. This will be the first time the owners have had a chance to vote on those proposals.

Any city of two million or more is eligible for a second big league team. The park must be not less than five miles from the park of the existing club and other conditions, such as seating capacity and so on, must be met.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Ryder Cup player Fred Hawkins and Dave Marr of Rumson, N. J., neither figured to create much of a stir, led a field of 42 professionals into the second round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament today.

Hawkins, 34-year-old Texan from El Paso, who scored the only singles triumph for America in the international matches last year against the British, and Marr, 10 years younger and never a big winner, held a 2-stroke lead today. They had 65s, six under par.

His sparkling round Thursday gave him a two-stroke lead over Bob Watson.

Johnson Drops To Second in Scoring Race

Circleville's ace forward Bill Johnson has dropped from first to second place in the South Central Ohio League scoring race.

Moving up into the top spot in Wilmington's fine forward, Steve Rainer, The Hurricane performer has accumulated a blazing 24.8 average in five league games.

Johnson, off his usual pace the last few games, is in second place with a 21-point average in four games.

In third spot is Larry Milstead of Washington C.H. with a 19.6 mark. However, Milstead reportedly has quite the Blue Lion squad, putting a serious cramp on Washington's hopes for the SCOL crown.

The Blue Lions currently are tied with Wilmington for the league lead, each with a 4-1 record. Circleville is second with two wins and two losses.

The Tigers have two other men in the first 12 in the scoring column. Jon Parcher has hit for a 15.5 average for fifth place and Mike Hosler owns 11th place with a 10.8 mark.

There is a chance the scoring race may change tonight when

Laurelville Tops in Area Win Record

quintet, Lancaster St. Marys, 62-53.

The Wildcats now stand 11-2 for the year giving them a .846 winning percentage.

Centralia's cagers bettered their average as they won their only game last week and increased their record to 10-4 for a .714 average. Stoutsville dropped its average somewhat by winning two games and losing one for a 7-6 record and a .538 average.

Amanda dropped to the losing side of the ledger this week with a 6-7 record as they lost to Reynoldsburg Tuesday night. They now have a .462 average.

Laurelville is still tops offensively, with 63.1 points per game, but Centralia is breathing down their necks with a 63 average. The other three teams dropped offensively, Kingston taking the biggest dip, dropping four points.

Defensively, Centralia took the CHICAGO (AP) — Don't count the Minneapolis Lakers out of a play-off spot in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

The Lakers have won only 12 of their 44 games, but three of the victories have come in the last five games since Johnny Kuchla replaced George Mikan as coach. And following Thursday night's 128-125 overtime triumph over Detroit, the Lakers trail the third place Pistons by only four games.

In the league's other game Thursday night the Syracuse Nationals strengthened their hold on second place in the Eastern Division by turning back the Philadelphia Warriors 101-88. The defeat dropped the Warriors a half-game back of third place New York.

Iowa Sets Up Defense Against Minnesota's Jump Shot Artist

Bowling Green headed the list with an unusual finish to its 73-72 conquest of Detroit.

With the score knotted 72-72 and one second remaining in the game, a Titan player called a timeout—Detroit's sixth of the evening. Since only five time-outs are allowed, the officials awarded a free throw to the Falcons and Jim Darrow sank the important shot.

The free throw also ran Darrow's point production to 30 for the evening.

In an Ohio Conference battle, Wittenberg remained unbeaten and the leader in the conference by turning back Muskingum 64-49. The Lutherans are 7-0 in the conference and 11-2 for the season.

The Muskies reaped some honors from the game, their third loss in seven loop tilts, as Bill Frazier scored 19 points to lead the scorers. Muskingum has an 8-4 overall record.

In Athens, Ohio University avenged an earlier defeat and posted their seventh victory in their last eight games, 71-57 over Morehead State. The Bobcats at one point in the second half enjoyed a 22-point lead.

The game put both teams at 9-5 marks.

Findlay was the only other team in action and the Oilers dumped Huntington of Indiana 106-89 for their ninth win in 11 games.

Scoring honors for the game went to Huntington's Tom Reth, who poured in 17 field goals and three free throws for 37 points.

Little Rio Grande, which gained national importance from 1952 to 1954 with his Bevo Francis, was back in the news, but this time for not playing a game.

An apparent mixup in dates had fans waiting at Institute, W. Va., for the West Virginia State-Rio Grande game Thursday night, but the Redmen failed to put in an appearance.

Rio coach Ed Harter said his contract with State calls for the game to be played Feb. 3, and he said his team would be there then.

Minnesota's George Kline will be a marked man when Iowa invades the Gophers' home court Saturday afternoon for a regionally televised Big Ten basketball game.

Kline, a jump-shot specialist, last year scored 40 points against Iowa. The Hawkeyes are setting up defenses for him this time, but so have other teams and Kline has managed to average 22.7 points in three conference games to be third leading scorer.

Iowa also must be wary of Roger and Ron Johnson who are averaging 17 and 15, respectively, for the Gophers.

Despite this balanced scoring, Minnesota is ninth in the standings with a 1-2 record, possibly because it has averaged only 38 rebounds a game.

Iowa is eighth with 2-3 and has a rebound average of 41. Each team has been hitting about equally well from the floor, Iowa making .347 of its shots and Minnesota .354. The Hawkeyes' top scorer is Dave Gunther, fifth in the conference with 19.2.

In the only other Big Ten game on a schedule bottled by semester examinations, Northwestern (2-2) is at Michigan State in fourth place and the winner again will be in a challenging position for the lead held by Michigan with 3-1. Michigan's next Big Ten action is against Purdue Feb. 1.

Johnson Drops To Second in Scoring Race

Circleville's ace forward Bill Johnson has dropped from first to second place in the South Central Ohio League scoring race.

Moving up into the top spot in Wilmington's fine forward, Steve Rainer. The Hurricane performer has accumulated a blazing 24.8 average in five league games.

Johnson, off his usual pace the last few games, is in second place with a 21-point average in four games.

In third spot is Larry Milstead of Washington C. H. with a 19.6 mark. However, Milstead reportedly has quite the Blue Lion squad, putting a serious cramp on Washington's hopes for the SCOL crown.

The Blue Lions currently are tied with Wilmington for the league lead, each with a 4-1 record. Circleville is second with two wins and two losses.

The Tigers have two other men in the first 12 in the scoring column. Jon Pacher has hit for a 15.5 average for fifth place and Mike Hosler owns 11th place with a 10.8 mark.

There is a chance the scoring race may change tonight when

Laurelville Tops in Area Win Record

quintet, Lancaster St. Marys, 62-53.

The Wildcats now stand 11-2 for the year giving them a .846 winning percentage.

Centralia's cagers bettered their average as they won their only game last week and increased their record to 10-4 for a .714 average. Stoutsville dropped its average somewhat by winning two games and losing one for a 7-6 record and a .538 average.

Amanda dropped to the losing side of the ledger this week with a 6-7 record as they lost to Reynoldsburg Tuesday night. They now have a .462 average.

Laurelville is still tops offensively, with 63.1 points per game, but Centralia is breathing down their necks with a 63 average. The other three teams dropped offensively, Kingston taking the biggest dip, dropping four points.

Defensively, Centralia took the

A&M Prexy Chided for Myers Hiring

CHICAGO (AP)—The President of the Iowa State Alumni Assn. has leveled sharp criticism at the president of Texas A&M for hiring football coach Jim Myers of Iowa State.

Douglas Graves, assistant vice president of a Chicago bank, made public Thursday a letter he sent to Dr. M. T. Harrington, Texas
A & M president.

It said in part: "If a coach does not have the moral fibre to make an effort to adhere to a 5-year obligation for more than a week, certainly we should expect the president of a college to have higher standards."

"It was a disappointment to lose coach Myers. It was even a greater disappointment to see the great college of Texas A & M become a party to encouraging a man to break a personal commitment."

"No longer can a college president sit in his ivory tower and disclaim responsibility for the action of over-zealous alumni. By the action and example of your school in accepting Mr. Myers, only days after he gave his word to stay, you have made the presidents of other institutions responsible for the actions of coaches and alumni."

Ohio Race Track Ownership Probed

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Legislative Service Commission's subcommittee to study the state's horse racing laws has begun a study of possible overlapping ownership of the state's race tracks and background of the owners.

A section of Ohio law states only one racing permit can be issued to the same person, association, trust or corporation.

A committee memorandum said there was some overlapping of officers, directors and shareholders of Thistledown Jockey Club, Inc., and Cleveland Raceways; and also Aurora Downs, Inc., Painesville Raceway, Inc., and Bedford Sports-park, Inc.

Certain Types of Income Are Listed as Tax-Free

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of eight stories on your income tax. It lists the income you do not have to report. Be sure to save it for reference when you fill out your return.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Newsfeatures

There are certain types of income which are tax-free, and which you don't even have to report in making out your income tax return.

By taking advantage of these exclusions you may be able to whittle down your tax bill considerably.

On the other hand, you may have had certain income which you hadn't thought of as being taxable.

The government wants you to exclude everything possible under the law, but the tax collectors also insist that every bit of taxable income be listed. This article deals with both types of income.

First, because it's more pleasant to think about, let's look at the income which you don't have to declare:

1. State and federal social security payments, benefits from the Railroad Retirement Act, and Workmen's Compensation benefits. This includes state and federal unemployment compensation.

2. Inheritances (up to $30,000) and death benefits from life insurance policies.

3. All government payments and benefits to veterans and their families, except interest on terminal leave bonds and retirement pay not connected with a disability.

4. Gifts. This includes money or anything of value for which you performed no service whatever.

5. Interest on state and municipal bonds.

6. Subsistence and rental allowances to members of the armed forces.

7. Dividends on GI life insurance programs.

ANY 1957 INCOME you had which falls into one of these categories is beyond the reach of the tax collector. Just forget about it while making out your return.

There are several other categories which have strings attached. Prizes and awards (as distinct from gifts) are exempt from taxes only if they are given in recognition of civic, literary, artistic, educational, scientific, charitable or religious achievement.

But these prizes and awards can't be excluded if you had to enter a contest as a condition of winning, and they can't carry with them the requirement of performing any substantial future service for the donor.

This means that most prizes given on radio and television giveaway programs or quiz programs are not exempt and Uncle Sam awaits his share.

GENERALLY SPEAKING, payments made in the form of scholarships or fellowships are tax exempt.

If the recipient is a candidate for a degree the entire amount is tax free and needn't be reported. If the recipient is not a candidate for a degree, the maximum amount which is exempt is $300 a month.

Income earned outside the scholarship, however, is taxable. For instance, a football player attending college on an athletic scholarship wouldn't have to report that he was given room, board, books, tuition, laundry and expense money.

But he would have to report any income he might get for winding the eight-day clocks in the coach's office.

ALL DIVIDEND income must be reported on Schedule A on page 3 of the form 1040. There's a place there to list all dividend income and take your exemption.

Remember, so-called dividends from savings and loan or building and loan associations and from credit unions are not considered true dividends by the tax collector.

The tax laws also let you exclude from your taxable income part or all of your income received in the form of annuity or retirement pay. There are two general rules which apply:

1. Uncle Sam feels you have a right to recover, tax-free, as much as you have paid into your annuity or pension plan. For instance, if over the years you paid $3,500 into your company's pension fund, $3,500 of what you get back is tax-free.

2. You can't exclude any part of the payments if you did not bear part of the cost. However, even if you made no direct contributions, you paid part of the cost if you were taxed for part or all of your employer's payments to the plan.

There's a chance for real savings by excluding your "sick pay" — pay received from your employer

while you were off work because of illness or injury

The amount of sick pay you can exclude from your taxable income cannot exceed $100 per week and the plan must be financed by your employer.

If your absence is due to illness, it generally begins only with your second week's sick pay. However, if you are hospitalized for even one day because of illness, the exclusion begins with the first day you missed, just as for an injury.

REMEMBER THAT $100-per-week ceiling. If your pay is over $100 per week, here's how to figure how much you can exclude:

Divide $100 by the number of working days in your normal work week. That gives you your maximum daily exclusion. Then multiply that amount by the number of days you were off work. That gives you your total excludable sick pay.

When your pay for the period while you are out with illness or injury comes entirely from your own contributions to a plan or policy, the $100 limit does not apply. The entire amount may be excluded.

If you use Form 1040A, or punch card type return, you cannot claim sick pay exclusion. On the form 1040, it should be entered on line 6 (b) and you should attach a statement to your return showing the dates you were absent, the nature of your illness or injury, whether or not you were hospitalized, and when, and how you figured the amount excluded.

THAT ABOUT covers the exclusions. Now there's the matter of income which the government wants to see you list.

Interest on bank deposits, savings bonds and securities are taxable. So are any profits you make from the sale or exchange of real estate, securities, automobiles or other property.

You must list income from rents and royalties, business or professional profits, income from estates or trusts and even alimony and separate maintenance or support payments received from your husband or wife and deducted by him or her.

The next article will deal with business-connected expenses and expense accounts.

Florida was once a colony of Spain and Great Britain. It was later ceded to the United States.

2 Men Dead In Dayton Shootings

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Two men are dead today, one by his own hands, as the result of what authorities were told was an improper advance made by one.

Shelton Nethery Jr., 27, an unemployed Springfield truck driver, died in Miami Valley Hospital here early today of shotgun wounds.

Thursday, as Montgomery County sheriff's deputies approached the home of Remal Foster Milligan, 45, of Rt. 6, Xenia, to question him about the Nethery shooting, they heard a gunshot. Milligan was found lying on the floor, clutching a 12-gauge shotgun and fatally wounded in the abdomen, they said.

Deputies gave this sequence of events:

Nethery showed up at Miami Valley Hospital Tuesday, also wounded in his abdomen. He told police he had been shot by a man he met in a Dayton theater. The man invited him to his home and made improper advances as soon as they entered, Nethery said.

Nethery added that he knocked the other man down, but "he got up and went into another room, and when I turned around, he shot me."

Nethery said he pleaded with the man for 30 minutes to take him to a doctor. Nethery finally was brought by his assailant to the hospital.

Nethery then described the place where the shooting took place. Sheriff's Detective Lt. R. C. Beckett said deputies went to the house five miles southwest of here in Greene County. An auto with blood stains on the front seat was parked outside, Beckett said.

As deputies approached the house, the detective said, they heard a gunshot. They broke down the door, Beckett continued, and found Milligan on the floor, fatally wounded. He was alone.

Rankin Named Head of Group

URBANA (AP)—A. R. Rankin of Washington C. H. is the new president of the Ohio Commercial Swine Producers Assn.

He was elected Thursday at the group's annual meeting here and succeeds Robert V. Snyder of Wilmington. Homer Watts of Greenfield was elected vice president and Herbert Barnes, extension animal science specialist at Ohio State University, was renamed secretary-treasurer.

Patrol Adds 30 Men.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Another 30 cadets were graduated by the Ohio State Highway Patrol academy here today, bringing the patrol's strength to 671 men.

Shoe Store X-Rays May Be Banned

COLUMBUS (AP)—A proposal to ban the use of X-ray fluoroscopes for shoe-fitting in shoe stores is under consideration by the Ohio Public Health Council.

The council will hold a public hearing here April 12 on the adoption of a regulation that would permit only physicians and chiropractors to use fluoroscopes for that purpose.

State Health Director Ralph E. Dwork said recent studies have shown radiation such as that produced by X-ray machines is potentially harmful.

Ohio Air Guard Training Booked

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Training dates for Ohio airmen using the Phelps Collins Air Force Base at Alpena have been set by top National Guard representatives.

Ohio Air Guardsmen will train at the base Aug. 16-30.

Spokesmen for the Air Guard also agreed to send representatives to a later meeting to iron out details of the base use. These will include dates for use of the bombing range near Oscoda and coordination of air-sea rescue operations.

4 Klansmen Get Prison Sentences

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—Four Ku Klux Klansmen convicted in the beating of an aged Negro man were sentenced to prison terms here Thursday.

Judge James M. Brailsford Jr. sentenced Andrew Marshall Rochester, 30-year-old Greenville Klan head, to six years at hard labor, and Wade Henry Howard, 24, to three years.

Jack Bentley, 24, and Robert E.

IT'S

3-T CORD

and only GOODYEAR has it!

What is 3-T?

3-T cord is the result of Goodyear's precise Tension, Temperature, and Time control process for treating rayon and nylon tire cord.

Why is 3-T better?

Untreated rayon and nylon tend to stretch under tension. 3-T controls this "stretch" and increases the strength and resistance to fatigue.

Does 3-T cost more?

No! Goodyear's top quality 3-T cord tires give you famous Goodyear quality inside and out . . . at a rock-bottom price.

Certain Types of Income Are Listed as Tax-Free

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of eight stories on your income tax. It lists the income you do not have to report. Be sure to save it for reference when you fill out your return.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Newsfeatures

There are certain types of income which are tax-free, and which you don't even have to report in making out your income tax return.

By taking advantage of these exclusions you may be able to whittle down your tax bill considerably.

On the other hand, you may have had certain income which you hadn't thought of as being taxable.

The government wants you to exclude everything possible under the law, but the tax collectors also insist that every bit of taxable income be listed. This article deals with both types of income.

First, because it's more pleasant to think about, let's look at the income which you don't have to declare:

1. State and federal social security payments, benefits from the Railroad Retirement Act, and Workmen's Compensation benefits. This includes state and federal unemployment compensation.

2. Inheritances (up to $30,000) and death benefits from life insurance policies.

3. All government payments and benefits to veterans and their families, except interest on terminal leave bonds and retirement pay not connected with a disability.

4. Gifts. This includes money or anything of value for which you performed no service whatever.

5. Interest on state and municipal bonds.

6. Subsistence and rental allowances to members of the armed forces.

7. Dividends on GI life insurance programs.

ANY 1957 INCOME you had which falls into one of these categories is beyond the reach of the tax collector. Just forget about it while making out your return.

There are several other categories which have strings attached. Prizes and awards (as distinct from gifts) are exempt from taxes only if they are given in recognition of civic, literary, artistic, educational, scientific, charitable or religious achievement.

But these prizes and awards can't be excluded if you had to enter a contest as a condition of winning, and they can't carry with them the requirement of performing any substantial future service for the donor.

This means that most prizes given on radio and television giveaway programs or quiz programs are not exempt and Uncle Sam awaits his share.

GENERALLY SPEAKING, payments made in the form of scholarships or fellowships are tax exempt.

If the recipient is a candidate for a degree the entire amount is tax free and needn't be reported. If the recipient is not a candidate for a degree, the maximum amount which is exempt is $300 a month. Income earned outside the scholarship, however, is taxable. For instance, a football player attending college on an athletic scholarship wouldn't have to report that he was given room, board, books, tuition, laundry and expense money.

But he would have to report any income he might get for winding the eight-day clocks in the coach's office.

With some restrictions, each taxpayer may deduct from his income up to $50 received as dividends during the tax year from qualifying domestic corporations.

ALL DIVIDEND income must be reported on Schedule A on page 3 of the form 1040. There's a place there to list all dividend income and take your exemption.

Remember, so-called dividends from savings and loan or building and loan associations and from credit unions are not considered true dividends by the tax collector.

They're considered interest, and must be listed with your other income.

The tax laws also let you exclude from your taxable income part or all of your income received in the form of annuity or retirement pay. There are two general rules which apply:

1. Uncle Sam feels you have a right to recover, tax-free, as much as you have paid into your annuity or pension plan. For instance, if over the years you paid $3,500 into your company's pension fund, $3,500 of what you get back is tax-free.

2. You can't exclude any part of the payments if you did not bear part of the cost. However, even if you made no direct contributions, you paid part of the cost if you were taxed for part or all of your employer's payments to the plan.

There's a chance for real savings by excluding your "sick pay" — pay received from your employer

while you were off work because of illness or injury.

Here, too, there are certain conditions to be met, and certain limits on how much can be excluded.

The amount of sick pay you can exclude from your taxable income cannot exceed $100 per week and the plan must be financed by your employer.

If your absence is due to illness, it generally begins only with your second week's sick pay. However, if you are hospitalized for even one day because of illness, the exclusion begins with the first day you missed, just as for an injury.

REMEMBER THAT $100-per-week ceiling. If your pay is over $100 per week, here's how to figure how much you can exclude:

Divide $100 by the number of working days in your normal work week. That gives you your maximum daily exclusion. Then multiply that amount by the number of days you were off work. That gives you your total excludable sick pay.

When you pay for the period while you are out with illness or injury comes entirely from your own contributions to a plan or policy, the $100 limit does not apply. The entire amount may be excluded.

If you use Form 1040A, or punch card type return, you cannot claim sick pay exclusion. On the form 1040, it should be entered on line 6 (b) and you should attach a statement to your return showing the dates you were absent, the nature of your illness or injury, whether or not you were hospitalized, and when, and how you figured the amount excluded.

THAT ABOUT covers the exclusions. Now there's the matter of income which the government wants to see you list.

With the exceptions noted above, Uncle Sam wants his full share of all wages, salaries, bonuses, commissions, fees and tips.

Interest on bank deposits, savings bonds and securities are taxable. So are any profits you make from the sale or exchange of real estate, securities, automobiles or other property.

You must list income from rents and royalties, business or professional profits, income from estates or trusts and even alimony and separate maintenance or support payments received from your husband or wife and deducted by him or her.

The next article will deal with business-connected expenses and expense accounts.

Florida was once a colony of Spain and Great Britain. It was later ceded to the United States.

2 Men Dead In Dayton Shootings

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Two men are dead today, one by his own hands, as the result of what authorities were told was an improper advance made by one.

Shelton Nethery Jr., 27, an unemployed Springfield truck driver, died in Miami Valley Hospital here early today of shotgun wounds.

Thursday, as Montgomery County sheriff's deputies approached the home of Remal Foster Milligan, 45, of Rt. 6, Xenia, to question him about the Nethery shooting, they heard a gunshot. Milligan was found lying on the floor, clutching a 12-gauge shotgun and fatally wounded in the abdomen, they said.

Deputies gave this sequence of events:

Nethery showed up at Miami Valley Hospital Tuesday, also wounded in his abdomen. He told police he had been shot by a man he met in a Dayton theater. The man invited him to his home and made improper advances as soon as they entered, Nethery said.

Nethery added that he knocked the other man down, but "he got up and went into another room, and when I turned around, he shot me."

Nethery then described the place where the shooting took place. Sheriff's Detective Lt. R. C. Beckett said deputies went to the house five miles southwest of here in Greene County. An auto with blood stains on the front seat was parked outside, Beckett said.

As deputies approached the house, the detective said, they heard a gunshot. They broke down the door, Beckett continued, and found Milligan on the floor, fatally wounded. He was alone.

URBANA (AP)—A. R. Rankin of Washington, C. H. is the new president of the Ohio Commercial Swine Producers Assn.

He was elected Thursday at the group's annual meeting here and succeeds Robert V. Snyder of Wilmington. Homer Watts of Greenfield was elected vice president and Herbert Barnes, extension animal science specialist at Ohio State University, was renamed secretary-treasurer.

Patrol Adds 30 Men

COLUMBUS (AP)—Another 30 cadets were graduated by the Ohio State Highway Patrol academy here today, bringing the patrol's strength to 671 men.

Shoe Store X-Rays May Be Banned

COLUMBUS (AP)—A proposal to ban the use of X-ray fluoroscopes for shoe-fitting in shoe stores is under consideration by the Ohio Public Health Council.

The council will hold a public hearing here April 12 on the adoption of a regulation that would permit only physicians and chiropractors to use fluoroscopes for that purpose.

Ohio Air Guard Training Booked

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Training dates for Ohio airmen using the Phelps Collins Air Force Base at Alpena have been set by top National Guard representatives.

Ohio Air Guardsmen will train at the base Aug. 16-30.

Spokesmen for the Air Guard also agreed to send representatives to a later meeting to iron out details of the base use. These will include dates for use of the bombing range near Oscoda and coordination of air-sea rescue operations.

4 Klansmen Get Prison Sentences

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—Four Ku Klux Klansmen convicted in the beating of an aged Negro man were sentenced to prison terms here Thursday.

Judge James M. Brailsford Jr. sentenced Andrew Marshall Rochester, 30-year-old Greenville Klan head, to six years at hard labor, and Wade Henry Howard, 24, to three years.

Waldrop, 28, were sentenced to one year each.

An all-white jury returned the verdicts against the four for the beating last July 21 of Claud Cruik, 58-year-old Negro, who with his wife were caring for seven white children whose mother was hospitalized.
